ONLY 6½ OF 75 MILLION LEFT IN TRACTION FUND

Ten Year Drainage Told by Upham.

The city traction fund, that nest egg painstakingly built up for 24 years so that the city might eventually own the transportation system that uses its streets, today actually contains only $6,600,000 in live assets.

The rest of the fund, which at its most flourishing stage 10 years ago amounted to 75 million dollars, now consists of irredeemable paper, frozen assets, and earmarked money.

The story of the decline and fall of the vast traction fund was revealed yesterday by City Controler Robert B. Upham.

Systematic Depletion.

The story is one of systematic depletion. For 28 years—since 1913—the fund has been a "bank" from which city authorities borrowed cash when money was needed for current operations of city departments.

The fund, in fact, has been used for almost every purpose except that for which it was originally created; street railway improvement or purchase of street car lines by the city.

Under the traction ordinance of 1907, the street railways were required to make regular payments into the fund for the privilege of using the city's streets. These payments were made faithfully until 1931, when the earnings fell below the level which, under the ordinance, required contributions to the city.

City Puts in IOUs.

Meanwhile, however, the city had begun putting in IOUs in the form of tax anticipation warrants into the fund every time it needed cash to meet its bills. When tax collections were satisfactory, the cash was put back into the fund and the warrants torn up.

This system worked all right until the depression put a crimp in tax collections and the car lines quit siphoning in fresh cash. When that happened 10 years ago, masses of unredeemed and probably irredeemable city paper began to pile up in the fund.

Of the 75 millions of the fund's peak, Upham said, payments by the car lines accounted for $47,169,000, while the remainder represented interest on investments.

City Spends Millions.

But from 1911 until now, the city spent $6,500,000 for assorted transportation plans. Another 28 millions were spent in the last two and one-half years as the city's share of the 60 million dollar subway cost, which is being financed jointly by the city and the federal government.

These withdrawals make the present face value of the fund $40,500,000. But the city is required to put up an additional $6,270,000 under the federal subway grant this year, and the city council has appropriated another 6 millions to equip the subways with tracks, turnstiles, and signals.

After these outlays, $28,230,000 will be left. But of this, Upham said, $19,500,000 is sunk in irredeemable warrants, and $2,130,000 in interest on the warrants due but not paid. [Interest is paid only when warrants are redeemed.] So $6,600,000 is actually left in warrants that could be sold today for cash.

Hopes for Recouping.

Upham said he believes that 3 million dollars in warrants now stagnant should pay out "in a year or two," and that the city hopes to be repaid the 6 millions spent on subway equipment when a unified transportation company begins operating the subway.

He also said that the policy of borrowing against the traction fund had saved the city large interest charges, because it would have had to pay 1 to 1¼ per cent in the money market, while it pays itself only 1-16th of 1 per cent.

On the other hand, annual charges for transportation plans and transit experts and attorneys, which in the last five years have run between $200,000 and $650,000, will continue to be paid from the traction fund. Moreover, the city now is faced with millions of dollars in damage suits from property owners whose buildings have been injured by subway construction.

Swerves Out to Miss Truck, Hit by Another

A truck driver was killed and 32 persons, including 14 Chicagoans, were injured last night when a Greyhound bus collided with a semitrailer truck on U. S. highway 25 miles west of Michigan City, Ind. Both vehicles burst into flames and were destroyed, but all the bus passengers were removed.

The bus was en route from Chicago to Detroit, Mich. Police said the driver, Robert Hurka, 26 years old, of 4954 Walton street, was forced to swerve into the third traffic lane when a truck ahead slowed unexpectedly. The bus was hit broadside by an oncoming truck driven by John Cytia, 36, of 1705 East Fox street, South Bend, Ind. Cytia was killed.

Folks Down in Illinois and Indiana Agree: 'This War Is Not Our War!'

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wabash, Ind., June 27.—This war rumpus, as the Rev. Ora Oxley sees it, is a question of the banks of the Wabash against the banks of Wall street. "It seems reasonable," said the Rev. Oxley, "that no one would want to get into a war unless they had an ax to grind. If we'd stayed home 22 years ago we wouldn't be in the trouble we're in now.

"Now if some one came out to the home place in Dora and started to make trouble, I'd take care of them, but I'm certainly not going over to the neighbor folks' house and start a racket—and that's the way I look at this war thing. And the big part of my congregation feels the same way about it."

Volunteers in Patriotic Rally.

The Rev. Oxley, pastor of the Christian church in Dora, Ind., eight miles southeast of Wabash, volunteered his services yesterday for the Grass Roots patriotic rally to be held in city park Sunday.

The Grass Roots rally had its inception when Joe Thrush, farmer outside Wabash, wrote a letter to the Plain Dealer, community newspaper, and said he thought it was about time that Wabash had a meeting and talked the whole thing out. Jerry Contry of the paper and Mayor James L. Smallwood thought it was a pretty good idea and the latter proclaimed Sunday as "Grass Roots day."

Samuel B. Pettengill, former Democratic congressman from Indiana, and Karl Mundt, Republican congressman from South Dakota, agreed to give their ideas on the subject of war and the meeting was on.

Mayor Smallwood, who is an auctioneer when he isn't mayoring, is in touch with the farmers. They can't see the idea of fighting Europe's wars, the mayor said today, and they're a bit more bitter since Russia got to be a democratic nation and allied with Britain.

Thrush, who started the ball rolling, got down off his plow in the south 40 of corn this afternoon to reiterate his ideas on the matter.

We Licked 'Em Once!

"It don't appear to be our war," he said meditatively as he plucked a gnawing weed. "We licked Germany once and what was the sense of it if we have to do it again this year and then go back some more in another 20 years? That's about the size of it as I see it and it don't make sense. I'm 65 years old and I'd be ready to take them all on if they came over here, but I'm not going over there looking for them."

Mrs. Ed. Hipskind, mother of six sons, said she was willing to make sacrifices, but she couldn't understand what business of the United States the European war could be.

Joe Welty, who manages the Indiana hotel, thinks the United States should stay out unless we are invaded.

Senator Brooks. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

BY HERMAN KOGAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ill., June 27.—The mercury jiggled above the 100 mark here today, but that's a cool breeze compared with the heat citizens in these parts are asking Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] to turn on the war minded element in Washington, D. C.

From Mrs. Susan [Aunt Sue] Marle, 90 years old, of Hume, Edgar county, to judges and bellboys in Danville, the one cry the state's junior senator has been hearing on the first day of his visit with constituents in this territory is: "Tell them we don't want to go to war."

Less than three minutes after Senator Brooks drove into Danville, his first stop on the three day tour, he was greeted by a group of leading citizens.

What They Said.

How do they feel? Listen to County Judge Harlan M. Steely.

"Tell those fellows that want to start shooting what the people are saying," the judge urged. "Down here we're Americans. We're not Nazis, Fascists, or communists. We want England to win, sure we do. We want to help England to win, but we don't want to put our country in a spot by giving away our defense weapons."

Ed Hughes, veteran Danville newspaper man, summed up for Senator Brooks the general feeling of the 35,000 or more residents of the city when he said:

"We're pretty well down to earth hereabouts and we stay calm. The people will fight to keep their freedom. But they don't want to get in that mess, senator."

"Snake vs. Snake."

From Circuit Judge George Bristow came the brief comment: "As for helping Stalin, why should we help a snake skin a snake?"

Forty miles south, in the flag decked fair grounds at Paris, Edgar county, Senator Brooks halted again. This time he was greeted by cheers from 600 persons who, sponsored by the Edgar County Women's Republican club, had gathered at the park for a basket picnic.

And Senator Brooks told them the news.

"There are many there who are shouting for war," he said. "There are many who want us now to leap in and fight for a new democrat named Josef Stalin. Until recently he was a bad man. Now these war shouters want us to think he's all right.

Poses Two Questions.

"Do we want our boys to be sent to Russia to fight alongside those Cossacks? Don't we want instead to keep on building this country together into the finest place in the world, where Swede, German, Pole, and Russian, Italian and Norwegian, Englishman and Frenchman, Catholic, Jew, and Protestant can live happily together?

"I vow to you to keep my promise that I will do everything to keep us out of war."

RUSSIA ADMITS ARMY IN POLAND IS RETREATING

But Says Lines Hold on Other Fronts.

BULLETIN.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 28 (Saturday) (AP).—Persons listening to the Riga radio said that the program from that Latvian capital suddenly was interrupted last night by a commotion and that a garbled announcement in German then said the city had been occupied by the Nazis. They said a German news program subsequently was carried on the Riga wave length at midnight.

BULLETIN.

New York, June 27 (AP).—The German controled Oslo radio, attributing the report to sources in Ankara, Turkey, tonight said that the soviet government had fled Moscow and taken up temporary quarters in Sverdlovsk. Sverdlovsk is nearly 1,000 miles east of Moscow, across the Ural mountains.

(Map on back page.)

MOSCOW, June 28 [Saturday] (AP).—The soviet command today acknowledged that fierce German tank thrusts have forced its army back toward the old Russian-northern Poland frontier. Elsewhere Red troops held fast and even counterattacked across the Danube into Rumania to seize 500 prisoners.

[The Germans announced that a pocket had been gouged out of Russian defense lines. Details on page 4.]

The Red withdrawal to new defense positions occurred along a three-point line formed by Shaulai-Vilna-Baranowicze—the path of a German drive to capture Minsk, White Russian capital and rail center 160 miles east of the new soviet frontier.

Shaulai is in Lithuania. Vilna is about 150 miles southeast of Shaulai. Baranowicze lies about 100 miles almost due south of Vilna, and some 90 miles southwest of Minsk. Baranowicze, which is in Poland, is 120 miles within Russian territory from the nearest German point. It is still about 30 miles short of old Russia itself.

Strike Toward Riga.

The German thrust against Minsk was in twin columns headed across the Polish plains north of the Pinsk marshes. In the Shaulai sector the Germans appeared trying to strike northeastward in the direction of Riga, Latvia.

In counterattacks during the soviet retreat along this three-point line the Reds destroyed 40 German tanks and a German field headquarters and killed a German general.

The communique gave this picture elsewhere:

In the Luck and Lwow [Lemberg] areas in central and southern Poland a great German-Russian tank battle went thru its second day. German attempts at a break-thru were beaten back with heavy Nazi losses and the soviet capture of much booty and many Germans. In the region of Luck the Germans presumably were striking at Kiev, the capital of the Russian Ukraine.

Hold Line Along Prut.

Along the Prut river soviet defense forces still held their line, while a stab into Rumania across the Danube near its mouth was aided by a Red flotilla. The Prut divides Rumania and Russian Bessarabia.

The Russians took 800 German and Rumanian prisoners along the Prut.

At Skuleni on this river Red troops forestalled "enemy preparations for a large scale offensive."

In heavy fighting to recapture an unidentified village, soviet troops killed or wounded 700 Germans.

Bucharest Bombed Again.

Unending offensive action by the Red air fleet was stressed.

New and devastating raids were leveled on Bucharest, the capital of German occupied Rumania; Ploesti, Rumania's major oil city, and Constanta, its chief port.

At Bucharest and Ploesti there was "great destruction." Constanta was hard hit.

Overnight the Russian cities of Borisov, northeast of Minsk; Bobruisk, to the southeast, and Mogilev, east of Minsk, were repeatedly bombed.

Accusations that German parachutists captured in soviet territory wore Red army uniforms were repeated, and it was declared here that they were being wiped out as fast as they landed. In this work the peasants were cooperating.

TRIBUNE TO POLL VOTERS ON U. S. ENTRY INTO WAR

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE this morning announces a poll to determine the answer of the electorate to this question:

"Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?"

The question, regarded as perhaps the most momentous in the nation's history, calls for a simple yes or no answer.

The poll to sample the relative strength of isolationists and interventionists will be conducted by postcards addressed to every 10th voter on the official registration lists in Chicago, all of Cook county and in the nine downstate cities which have election boards and permanent polling lists. These nine cities are Cairo, Bloomington, Springfield, Rockford, Aurora, Peoria, East St. Louis, Danville, and Galesburg.

257,484 to Get Ballots.

The official registration for Chicago last November was 1,914,036 and for the rest of Cook county it was 360,811, a total of 2,274,847. The registration in the nine downstate cities totals 300,000.

As the postcards will be sent to every 10th voter on the list, 227,484 will be mailed to Cook county voters and 30,000 to downstate voters, an aggregate of 257,484.

The selection of names will be impartial and the poll of sentiment will be accurate and representative. Voters will begin receiving the cards Monday and returns will be printed as soon as they are received and tabulated.

Rival Groups to Check Poll.

Representatives of the two leading organizations on opposite sides of the controversy have been asked to be on hand when the ballot cards are sent out and when they are returned and counted. The organizations are the America First committee, for the isolationists, and the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, for the interventionists.

The cards will be ordinary penny postcards, two attached to each other and folded over. One half of the double card will have space for the voter's address on one side and on the opposite side, this message:

"Dear Sir or Madam: The other half of this postcard is a ballot in the Chicago Tribune poll on the question whether the United States shall enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler. An expression of your considered opinion is requested. Please tear off the other half of this card, mark an X opposite 'Yes' or 'No' and mail it back to us as soon as convenient. No signature, comment or postage is required. Thank you. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE."

War Straw Poll Is Title.

The other attached postcard has on one side: "War Poll, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill." On the opposite side is the question: "Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?" The words "Yes" and "No" appear beneath the question with squares in which the voter is asked to place his X.

A similar poll is being conducted by the New York News thruout New York state.

SENATE ALLOTS ARMY 10 BILLION IN 80 MINUTES!

Sum Is Largest in Nation's History.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—The largest appropriation bill in American history, making available $10,384,821,624 for the army during the next fiscal year, was considered and passed unanimously by the senate today in exactly 80 minutes. The voting rate was 130 million dollars a minute.

Passage of the army bill, which went to conference with the house for consideration of senate additions aggregating $558,312,132, will bring the total of appropriations made during the present session of congress up to approximately 32½ billion dollars, also a new alltime record. This figure includes all appropriation bills scheduled for passage by the end of the current fiscal year next Monday night, but not the supplemental billions to be voted later this session.

1918 Bill Is Second Largest.

The army appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1919, approved July 9, 1918, was the largest spending measure previously passed by congress. Its total was $10,225,478,312. The previous appropriation record for a session of congress also was established during the World war—$27,065,148,933 voted during the second session of the 65th congress for the fiscal year 1919.

The 10 billion dollar army bill brings the total of appropriations and authorizations thus far voted for the armaments program, including 7 billion dollars for aid to Great Britain, to approximately 40 billion dollars. Estimates for at least 5 more billion dollars already are being prepared.

Exceeds Expected Revenue.

The army bill alone adds an approximate average of $80 for every man, woman, and child in the United States to the prospective national debt, or approximately $320 for each family. It is larger than the total expected revenue of the federal government for the fiscal year 1942, which, based upon the staggering new tax rates now pending, is estimated officially at 10 billion 114 million dollars.

Altho the senate devoted more than an hour to technical details of the bill, not a question was asked about such fundamental matters as the defense policy of the United States, what the requirements are, and what the country is getting for all the billions that congress is voting.

Experts' Opinion Pointed Out.

Experience in the European war has shown, according to some of the nation's foremost military experts, that 10,000 heavy, long range bombing planes could defend the whole western hemisphere against any possible attack by the combined navies of the world. The 40 billion dollar armaments program provides for a mass army, a two ocean navy, and 50,000 airplanes, but not for 10,000 long range bombers. Until recently the emphasis was placed on light and medium bombers and fighter planes.

The new army bill includes $2,790,890,000 for 12,856 airplanes and accessory equipment, and many of these are expected to be long range four motored bombers. The number of such planes to be acquired has not been revealed, but the program calls for a construction rate in 1942 of 500 a month, or 6,000 a year, for both the United States and Britain.

40,000 Plane Total Foreseen.

The 12,856 additional planes for the army will give it a total of approximately 40,000 by the end of 1942 if the program is carried out. The navy's program calls for 10,000 planes.

The senate added 500 million dollars to the bill passed by the house to expedite the armaments construction program in both the arsenals and private munitions plants. Other items in the bill include $3,357,372,132 for payment of contract obligations previously incurred; $1,208,000,000 for pay of military personnel; $424,700,000 for subsistence, forage, and clothing; $735,600,000 for new equipment; $284,000,000 for new construction; $51,000,000 for Atlantic bases; $43,900,000 for pay of civilians to replace soldiers; $92,000,000 for seacoast defenses; $67,000,000 for research and development; $136,000,000 for training; $141,249,000 for maintenance, aviation pilot, and technician program; $867,500,000 for plant and equipment maintenance and operation.

GOVERNOR PICKS CARR AS HEAD OF HIGHWAY POLICE

Fifteen Appointments Are Sent to Senate.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—Gov. Dwight H. Green today flooded the state senate with 11th hour appointments. With only two more days left of the session, he added 15 names to the even dozen that he submitted yesterday. Among these was the selection of Lieut. Leo E. Carr of the Chicago police department as chief of the state highway police.

With one exception confirmation by the senate was almost automatic, the Republican majority supporting the governor and the Democrats permitting approval to go thru without discussion.

The one exception was the appointment of W. C. Jones of Streator [one of the dozen named yesterday] as superintendent of paroles in the new department of public safety which takes hold on Tuesday with T. P. Sullivan of Springfield as director. Jones, who has been chairman of the present much criticized parole board for 12 years, continues with the same duties under the new setup.

Chicago Democrat Protests.

A. L. Marovitz [D., Chicago], who has had much experience in the Criminal courts of Chicago, protested that Jones believes in the punitive rather than the regeneration school of thought, but his objections were overriden by a vote of 39 to 9. Then the appointments of Sullivan, five other officials of public safety, and five commerce commission officials presented yesterday were confirmed, 47 to 0.

Today's crop of political jobs included those of three members of the industrial commission, two appointments on the liquor commission, seven individual appointments and the naming of three members of the Court of Claims.

An appointment which attracted interest was that of Bernard S. Black of Wilmette as superintendent of lodging house inspection. Black is what the politicians call a reformer. In last year's compaign he represented the Chicago Business Men's committee in the 1st ward—the loop and adjoining lodging house areas—in the organization's effort to end fraud in that area.

Other Appointments.

Other appointments made today were these:

Industrial commission — Chairman, Alfred J. Borah, leader of the Chicago Young Republican movement; members, William E. King, Chicago, former state representative and state senator from the 2d district; Francis A. Horrigan, Chicago, committeeman for the 37th ward.

Liquor commission—Secretary, William M. Devine, Chicago real estate and insurance; member, Charles J. Fleck, committeeman for the 47th ward and now legal secretary to Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

Chief factory inspector—Arthur W. Sullivan, Chicago, printing business, ward leader for the Deneen group in 11th ward.

Assistant director of agriculture—Ray A. Dillinger, Decatur, former member of house of representatives and unsuccessful candidate for state senate last year.

Fire Marshal Reappointed.

State fire marshal—John H. Craig, Lewistown, renamed because his office was transferred from department of insurance to new department of public safety.

Assistant director of mines and minerals—Joseph Marchesi, Standard, an official of the United Mine workers since 1927.

William M. Devine (left), secretary of the liquor commission; Charles J. Fleck (center), member of the liquor commission, and Arthur W. Sullivan, chief factory inspector.

Bernard S. Black (left), superintendent of lodging house inspection; Ray A. Dillinger (center), assistant director of agriculture, and John H. Craig, state fire marshal.

George M. Fisher (left), justice of the Court of Claims; Samuel L. Golan (center), member of the board of review of the labor department, and William W. Damron, chief justice of the Court of Claims.

—Samuel L. Golan, Chicago attorney, former assistant corporation counsel.

Judges of the Court of Claims—Chief justice, William Wirt Damron, Harrisburg, judge of the City court of Harrisburg; Robert P. Eckert Jr., Freeport, leader of Young Republican activities, and George M. Fisher, Chicago, committeeman from the 18th ward.

These appointments are believed to complete all that Gov. Green will have for the regular session, which will adjourn sine die next Monday. And it is believed to include all the appointments upon which he has made up his mind. He says that he has no present intention of removing two Democratic holdovers still in his cabinet, Martin P. Durkin, director of labor, and Dr. Roland R. Cross, director of public health.

BILL TO TEST TAX LEVIES IN COOK UP TO GOVERNOR

Measure Is Approved by Senate, 130 to 0.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—Tax readjudication finally was approved by the legislature tonight when the house passed the Daley senate bill, 130 to 0, and sent it to Gov. Green for his signature.

Drawn in an effort to meet Supreme court objections to a similar measure declared unconstitutional two years ago, the measure sponsored by Senator Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago] is designed to provide a test of the legality of Cook county tax levies before they are spread.

Not Sufficient Notice.

The 1939 bill was invalidated because it did not give sufficient notice to nonresident taxpayers whose property was tax delinquent. Daley and other legal experts in tax matters believe they have met this objection.

Basically the bill is designed to eliminate interminable delays in the collection of taxes, due to objections, court cases, and appeals after the levy has been spread. It is claimed it also would eliminate special benefits that go to taxpayers financially able to drag their cases thru the courts while small home owners pay in full.

Warned that state regulation of the milk industry might result in an increase in the retail price, enough members failed to vote for regulation to force postponement of consideration of the bill. Only 69 of the 77 necessary votes voted for the bill, so the house manager, David Hunter [R., Rockford], moved to postpone before the vote was announced. Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewiston] said federal control had brought the cent a quart increase for Chicago and extra state regulations would raise the price another cent.

Militia Pay Bill Perilled.

Something approaching a legislative miracle is needed to keep alive in the $1,246,116 appropriation bill to pay members of the Illinois reserve militia $1 per drill.

The principal sponsor of the measure, Senator T. MacDowning [R., Macomb], who was joined by 39 other senators in its introduction, admitted that there wasn't much chance after the last scheduled meeting of the appropriations committee had been broken up by lack of a quorum, without action on the bill.

SUPERHIGHWAY BILL NEAR FINAL SENATE ACTION

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 27. — The house today sent back to the senate the toll superhighway bill, after concurring late last night in senate amendments to create a five man authority to administer the system in Cook county and refusing to concur in amendments providing for a similar but separate system for downstate roads.

The senate is expected to recede from the latter amendments and in that event the bill will go to Gov. Green. This action probably will be on Monday.

WPA GRANTS SUM TO CONSTRUCT 30 LAKES IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., June 27 (AP).—Gov. Dwight Green announced today the federal WPA has approved a grant of funds for construction of 30 or more small artificial lakes in Illinois at a total cost of $2,033,950.

The governor said the lakes are planned to provide municipal water supplies, water for wild life conservation, recreational facilities, and in some cases flood and drouth control benefits. Counties and local communities will provide necessary land and also pay one-fourth of the cost of the projects, or $508,290, Gov. Green explained. The state will supply only construction supervision.

Nearly 30 communities have applied for a share of the funds, but state engineers have not yet designated the location of the lakes. The WPA now has under construction or has completed 153 artificial lakes in Illinois.

Senate Votes to Double Boy Driver License Fees

Springfield, Ill., June 27 [Special].—The senate this afternoon passed a bill increasing from 25 to 50 cents the drivers' license fee and the drivers' permit fee for motorists under 18 years of age. The bill previously was passed by the house.

STATE'S RELIEF ROLLS TO REACH ALL-TIME LOW

Gain in Private Jobs Spurs July Drop.

There will be fewer persons on relief in Illinois during July than at any time since the system was started in 1932, Russell L. Peters, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, announced yesterday.

Increased employment in private industry and the normal seasonal decline in relief cases accounted for the decrease, Peters told the commission.

He estimated there will be 112,200 home relief cases on the rolls in July, compared with 162,000 cases in July, 1940, and 120,090 cases in the present month.

Decrease Put at 134,460.

Since there is an average of 2.7 persons on each Illinois relief case, the July relief load will total 302,940 persons compared with 437,400 in the month last year—a decrease of 134,460 persons.

This decline was reflected in estimated expenditures for the month. Peters estimated needs for July at 4 million dollars, which compared with $5,316,000 in the corresponding month last year.

At the same time, WPA officials announced the work rolls in Cook county would be reduced from 39,000 workers to 27,700 July 1. The rolls numbered 47,682 last July 3. Supervisory personnel will be cut in direct ratio, according to Acting Director George H. Field.

WPA Funds Lower.

The move was made necessary by congressional approval of a 875 million dollar appropriation to provide WPA jobs for 1 million persons during the 12 months beginning July 1. In the present fiscal year the appropriation was 1 billion, 381 million dollars, and an average of 1,700,000 persons were employed.

In connection with the decrease in relief rolls, Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, announced district offices 2 and 6 will be merged June 30. The combined office, at 2544 North avenue, will serve all of Chicago north of Madison street from Austin boulevard to Damen avenue, Lake street from Damen avenue to the river, and the river to the lake.

COURTNEY URGES GOV. GREEN VETO BOOKIE MEASURE

Stand Is Called Slap at Kelly-Nash.

In a letter to Gov. Dwight H. Green, State's Attorney Courtney yesterday expressed his unreserved opposition to the bill for licensing and control of racing handbooks thruout the state. He urged the governor to veto the bill.

The bill was passed Thursday by the Illinois senate and returned to the house of representatives for concurrence on amendments adopted in the senate. Its passage in the house is considered certain.

[House concurrence with senate amendments was halted last night by downstate legislators, who charged the measure places comparatively heavy financial loads on small communities. As a result a conference committee from both houses probably will meet during the week-end to draft a new section.]

Courtney declared the bill is against public good and that gambling should be kept in the background and "not put in the path of our people and at the front door of every neighborhood." His opposition to the bill was considered a direct slap at the Kelly-Nash organization which has given the measure strong support.

"Before you take final action," Courtney wrote Gov. Green, "I do not know whether or not I will be privileged to discuss the matter with you. However, as state's attorney of Cook county, I am unreservedly opposed to this legislation and therefore take this opportunity of suggesting its veto.

"The sponsors of this measure claim it will produce more revenue for public bodies. In my opinion, their thought and action should be directed to living within existing revenues rather than to the creation of new avenues for acquiring additional money from the public.

"Never should the thought of revenue supersede the public good.

"The young people of today are entitled to receive the protective action of constituted public authorities and certainly legislative action should not encourage them to cultivate the daily gambling habit and heap misery on themselves and their families."

CITY WINS SUIT FOR $38,364, FEES CLERK RETAINED

Judge Francis Allegretti in Superior court ruled yesterday in a friendly court action that Ludwig Schreiber, city clerk, is not entitled to retain for his private use a portion of state fishing and hunting license fees as permitted by the state game law of 1923. The court held that such funds belong to the city.

Schreiber was ordered to return to the city $38,364 which he has kept as his share of license collections since he took office in 1939 to Jan. 1, 1941, and all funds collected after that date. Under the state game law, the clerk was allowed to keep 10 cents on each fishing license sold and 25 cents from each hunting license.

The city, thru Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, argued that under the city's "little charter" of 1905, the city clerk receives a specific salary and that such fees belong to the city. Hodes said he was studying the possibility of the city collecting such funds from previous city clerks under Judge Allegretti's ruling.

BRITISH PLANE DEMANDS TO CUT U. S. AIR SERVICE

Government Calls for 24 More Big Liners.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The nation's commercial air lines will start curtailing their services in the next two weeks, it was learned here yesterday, because of demands which the federal government has made for airplanes to be turned over to England.

Col. Gorrell. [Kaiden-Keystone Photo.]

The government's demand for 24 air liners by Aug. 1 was disclosed Thursday night in a secret meeting in New York City. The meeting was attended by presidents of virtually all commercial air lines in the country.

12 Demanded in 12 Days.

Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport association, made known the government's requirements at the meeting. He said 12 of the big transport planes must be turned over in the next 12 days, and the remaining 12 by the end of July.

The commercial air lines already have contributed 18 airplanes, taking them directly from active service. The 18 were turned over to the government six weeks ago. In addition to these, the air lines have relinquished claims to 43 ships which had been ordered before the war. All these have been turned over to the British since last fall as they were completed in factories on the west coast.

Thirty more air liners which will be completed in the next six months also will be given to the British instead of to the American commercial air line companies that placed the original orders, it was learned here.

A Demand, Not a Request.

In all, the air lines already have turned over 91 planes to the government thru direct contributions and relinquishment of rights. When the current demand has been met, their direct sacrifices to the British will amount to 115 planes. At this time the nation's air lines operators are flying 358 air liners—some 6 years old.

"We were told we had to go along," the president of an air line who passed thru Chicago yesterday told friends in discussing the New York meeting. "There was no request for equipment; it was a demand. Some of the smaller lines are afraid they soon will be unable to fulfill mail contracts and will lose their postoffice contracts, the source of 50 per cent of their revenue."

American Airlines announced in New York that two of its planes would be turned over to the government, forcing curtailment of service between Boston, Mass., and Chicago. The company said two Douglas planes assigned to the government six weeks ago still are in its hangars at La Guardia field, New York, and officials consequently doubt that the need for planes is as great as represented.

Canadian Line Has 22 Planes.

Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., said his line also would be forced to curtail service, while the inclination of his company is to increase its schedules because of heavy traffic.

Several operators said Trans Canada Air Lines, which competes with American operators over routes from Toronto and Montreal into New York, is flying 22 planes. They said some of Trans Canada's planes should be commandeered if the equipment situation in England is so desperate.

The operators said 75 Lockheed Hudson bombers purchased by the British are at fields between California and New York because it has been impossible to deliver them to the Canadian ports whence they would be sent to British stations. They said delivery of these bombers probably would relieve any British shortage better than would the seizure of commercial air liners.

USO Gets $11,500 Gifts from 2 Business Concerns

Two large corporate gifts were announced yesterday by the Chicago office of the United Service Organizations, which is raising funds to provide recreation centers for the nation's armed forces. They were General American Transportaton corporaton, $4,000, and the Pabst Brewing company, $7,500. Of the latter, $1,000 goes to the Chicago committee and the $6,500 balance goes to USO committees in Milwaukee, Wis., and Peoria.

Model Hobby Queen

Harriett Clarke, singer, who will reign as queen of national Model Hobby week in Chicago next week.

The Office of Production Management at Washington has ruled that the model aviation industry in the United States is to be granted aluminum for the building of model airplanes and tiny gasoline engines, it was announced here yesterday by Pat Sweeney, an executive of the Model Industry association. The association's national Model Hobby show will open at the Morrison hotel next Tuesday continuing thru July 6.

"The more than 50 makers of model merchandise such as gasoline motor powered airplanes, race cars, motorboats, railroads, and other craft," said Sweeney, "are rejoicing over the news that a priority number has been granted for aluminum to be used in constructing model planes. Other metals used in model flying also are included because the government has decided that development of model flying is important to national defense."

Demonstrations of all the varieties of models will be given at the show daily, said Sweeney, and there will be model car and motorboat races.

NAVY IS DENIED RIGHT TO RETAIN MEN IN SERVICE

Senate Group Refuses to Grant Power.

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Despite an urgent plea from high navy officers, the senate naval affairs committee declined today to approve a bill under which the fleet's sailors and marines could be held in service beyond their term of enlistment.

Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) explained that committeemen felt this would be a breach of contract with the men. The committee did approve, however, a bill under which future volunteers would be placed on notice that they could be held in service after their enlistment period if congress so decided.

Problem Told by Navy.

Rear Admiral C. W. Nimitz, chief of the bureau of navigation, had said that because of the rapid expansion of the navy, its experienced personnel was being spread out very thinly. Therefore, he said, the navy ought to be empowered to retain men if congress declared a state of emergency.

Before the committee acted, there had been reports that the army might seek similar powers with respect to its men. It was uncertain, however, whether such a request would be pressed in view of the committee's attitude.

Secret Police Bill Approved.

The senate naval committee also approved today a revised house measure which would permit the navy to set up a secret police force of 330 men to guard against threatened sabotage, espionage, or other subversive activities in naval establishments, but reduced funds for it from 1½ million to 1 million dollars yearly.

Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] registered opposition to the measure.

MASS HOP WILL PRECEDE CHICAGO AIRPORT OPENING

Dedication Tomorrow to Feature Glider Show.

A mass flight of seven commercial air liners and 18 naval and army air corps planes over the city will open the formal dedication tomorrow afternoon of the enlarged Chicago airport.

The program of colorful events, including an exhibition of gliders and a parachute jump from a two passenger glider, was announced yesterday by Mayor Kelly. At least 150,000 persons are expected to view the ceremonies, which are free.

The air liners, with Mayor Kelly, army and naval officers, government officials, and other prominent guests aboard, will take off from one of the new runways at 1 p. m. An hour later the plane carrying the mayor will land and break a ribbon across the east-west runway, marking the formal opening of the field.

Planes to Give Exhibition.

A demonstration of the capacity of the airport will be given by nine planes of the 108th United States air corps observation squadron and six commercial air liners. These planes will make group touch landings and immediate takeoffs. The enlarged field with its nine runways has the greatest capacity of all America's air fields, according to Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works.

The glider exhibition will be put on by the Lewis Institute of Aeronautics of Lockport. Mike Burson, a druggist of Dyer, Ind., and a parachute jumper by hobby, will jump from a two passenger glider. Randy Chapman of Detroit, Mich., will present an exhibition of stunt gliding.

As a prelude to the dedication the special events department of W-G-N with its mobile unit will broadcast a talk by Mayor Kelly and present a special program at the airport from 12:30 to 12:45.

Few Parking Restrictions.

Few parking restrictions will be in effect in the areas around the airport in order to allow the public to view the exhibition from their cars. Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, said no parking would be allowed, however, on Cicero avenue, between 54th and 65th streets; on 63d street, between Keating and La Porte avenues, and on 55th street, between Cicero and Central avenues. Eight hundred policemen will handle the crowd and traffic.

More than 200 employés of eight air lines using Chicago airport paraded thru the loop yesterday to advertise the dedication program.

33D DIVISION VETS WILL THRASH OUT WAR'S QUESTIONS

A heated session on the question of another AEF was promised for today as nearly 5,000 veterans of the World war 33d division registered yesterday for the division's 15th annual convention.

Resolutions for and against convoys, for and against active participation in the war, and on numerous other subjects will be presented at the business meeting this afternoon in the Morrison hotel. The convention will close tomorrow.

William Wilson, former company commander in the 131st infantry, who edited the division magazine during the World war, said the members of the veterans' association are about evenly divided on convoys.

"The boys I've talked to are all solidly against another AEF in spite of the interventionist stand of national officers of the American Legion," Wilson said. "I expect there'll be a lot of hollering when the resolutions, pro and con, come up."

BOY, 3, WOUNDED BY SHOTGUN.

Rockford, Ill., June 27 [Special].—Gerald Welch, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Welch, 3501 Arline avenue, was seriously wounded last night as two companions, Leslie Dryden, 5, and Jerry Dryden, 7, argued over possession of a shotgun. The gun belongs to R. B. Dryden, grandfather of the two Dryden boys.

NO FOREIGN WAR

In a speech on Oct. 23, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"To Republicans and Democrats, to every man, woman and child in the nation I say:

"Your President and your great secretary of state are following the road to peace.

"We are arming ourselves not for any foreign war.

"We are arming ourselves not for any purposes of conquest or intervention in foreign disputes.

"It is for peace I have labored; and it is for peace I shall labor all the days of my life."

LARGEST PLANE GOES ALOFT ON MAIDEN FLIGHT

Weighs 82 Tons with Full Load.

March Field, Cal., June 27 (AP).—The army air corps' 3 million 500 thousand dollar B-19 bomber which the Douglas aircraft plant has been building since 1937, did everything asked of it today on its maiden test flight from Santa Monica.

Maj. Stanley H. Umstead, the army's No. 1 test pilot, nosed the huge craft into the air nine seconds after gunning the four 2,200 horse power motors at Clover Field. He brought it to a slow landing on a long runway of this army air base. Others aboard the bomber included Lieut. Col. James G. Taylor of the air corps, and three Douglas men.

Stays in Air 56 Minutes.

More than 5,000 army officers and men swarmed on to the field as the sky giant—described as the world's largest bomber—taxied toward a hangar. Officers appeared highly pleased at the performance. The plane flew 75 miles and was in the air 56 minutes.

The bomber, which has a 212 foot wingspread and a 132 foot fuselage, wobbled slightly as it left the ground, but Umstead said the takeoff was not dangerous.

Maj. Umstead said the B-19 can be taken onto any ordinary first class field. The brakes, which gave trouble in preliminary taxing, worked perfectly, as did the landing gear.

Seven Men Are Aboard.

Aboard were seven men, in place of the ultimate crew of 10. The plane carried less than one-fifth of its 11,000 gallons fuel capacity. Builders' statistics rate it as 41 tons empty, 82 tons fully loaded, including several tons of bombs.

The bomber required only 1,500 feet of the 3,800 foot runway in its takeoff. It flew out to sea, circled back over the Douglas plant at Santa Monica, where the workers who built it might see it in the air, and headed for March Field.

WM. M'FETRIDGE IS PUT ON COUNTY DEFENSE COUNCIL

William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employés' International union, has accepted a position as a board member on the Cook county council of defense, Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, announced yesterday. The appointment of McFetridge completes the council, Smith said. The group was established under the state council of defense act, which permits each county to establish a defense council to coöperate with the state organization in furthering national defense.

RECRUITS WATCH ARMY'S BARRAGE BALLOON FLIGHT

Camp Davis, N. C., June 27 [Special].—Recruits at the new barrage ballon training center, who arrived from New York state this week, witnessed the inflation and ascension of the first of the army's new D-5 barrage balloons here.

Summer's end will see the sky above this anti-aircraft firing center dotted with 300 balloons at one time. The specialized task of nursing such a nest of monster balloons is so new that army plans still are vague.

Special balloon squadrons are to act as instructors until the regularly attached personnel becomes familiar with the balloons, which form an arm of the anti-aircraft artillery.

GERMANS CLAIM POCKET IS DRIVEN INTO SOVIET LINE

Red Division Wiped Out, Berlin Reports.

BERLIN, June 27 (AP).—A pocket gouged out of the Russian defense lines at an undisclosed point by Panzer [armored] forces, annihilation of a Red army division, and extensive disruption of Russia's rail system by air bombs were claimed for the German military today by DNB, official news agency.

Field headquarters of Adolf Hitler delayed its promised announcement of great and detailed successes in the six day old war with Russia, but DNB, primarily describing yesterday's fighting, was more specific.

Informed German quarters also said that the main decision over Russia already had been won.

Capture Russian Tanks.

Without mentioning places, DNB said the soviet division which was destroyed had lost contact with the main body of Russian troops. Heavy tanks, guns, and trucks were captured by the Germans.

The lines of Russian prisoners trudging back to prison camps have lengthened considerably in the last 24 hours, the agency stated, and piles of booty are mounting steadily.

DNB also said reports from the entire front from the White Sea to the Black indicated that innumerable soldiers of the minorities on the Russian side had voluntarily thrown down their arms and surrendered to the advancing Germans.

It mentioned a Lithuanian battery which deserted yesterday, and 200 Cossacks who came over to the Nazi side in a body.

Bomb Soviet Airports.

The German air force for which mastery of the air over the fighting fronts already has been claimed, again struck at Russian airports, railways, and highways.

Destruction of 21 Russian planes standing on the ground near the Rumanian border was claimed for the Nazi air force. Another German squadron smashed a Russian column of trucks "without loss of a single plane."

One German anti-tank gun "smashed to pieces 15 Russian tanks as the battle raged on under a fiercely blazing sun."

Bavarian mountaineer troops clashed with a Red army armored division at another point, destroying more than 100 of their cars and capturing numbers of guns.

DNB slightly lifted the secrecy regarding the names of places involved in the war by stating that "two major battle are raging — around Lwow [Lemberg] and Bialystok."

The reason for this disclosure was that the official agency sought to prove that Russia had planned a German invasion.

Claim Reds Planned Invasion.

"If the soviets, as they now claim, had had no aggressive intentions," DNB argued, "but had solely massed troops for defense along the western frontier, then it would have been better for them to form a continuous defense front along the border.

"A glance at the map, however, shows that Lwow in Galicia and Bialystok on the upper Narev each lies almost in the center of a border sector jutting forward in a westerly direction.

"The massing of troops in these sectors clearly proves the aggressive intentions of the soviets."

Hungary announced this morning that she is in a state of war against Russia. Croatia indicated to the Germans that she "is prepared to and will" take part in the war.

[The Hungarian general staff announced that the Hungarian air force bombed Russian military objectives in retaliation for soviet attacks.]

In the German official opinion all Europe with the possible exception of Switzerland has rallied on the axis side in a general crusade against bolshevism. Even in occupied and defeated Holland, Belgium, and France volunteers are "begging" to be permitted to join actively in the fight against communism, the Germans said.

Spain was described as the most enthusiastic of the so-called neutrals in the matter of sending volunteers.

Just how these various volunteers were being accepted remained a military secret for the present.

Kills Her 2 Babies

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Ann Marie Hanssen as she appeared during questioning in San Diego, Cal., yesterday.

San Diego, Cal., June 27 (AP).—Miss Ann Marie Hanssen, a 22 year old sorority girl at San Diego State college, has confessed strangling two newborn babies within the last two years, the sheriff's office announced today.

Lieut. Blake Mason quoted Miss Hanssen, a junior at the college, as saying her first child was born in the spring of 1940 and that she went to class the same day she killed it. Mason said he found the body in a grave at the rear of the home of a great-aunt with whom Miss Hanssen lived. A gardener told Mason of finding the body in an incinerator and of burying it.

Miss Hanssen has been held in the county jail since her arrest June 19 on a charge of murder. Mason said the gardener also told of finding the body of the second baby in Miss Hanssen's bedroom closet. Police believe the baby, a boy, was born and killed the night of June 13.

RUSH RECRUITING OF SPANISH ARMY TO FIGHT RUSSIA

Troops to Be 75% Civil War Veterans.

MADRID, June 27 (AP).—Registration of volunteers for Spain's legion to fight beside Germany against Russia went forward rapidly today in Madrid and provincial capitals.

Many men, most of them middle class youths with a sprinkling of Spanish army regulars and civil war veterans, lined up at Madrid's enlistment booths.

Enlistment routine was rapid with immediate medical examinations for those accepted by recruiting officers of the Falange, Spain's only political party.

The lists will be closed next Wednesday. It is expected that three-fourths of the legion will be Civil war veterans, the remainder men who can "prove their service to the nationalist cause."

"Spain must avenge the destruction done by Russia in the civil war," Falange Party Secretary Jose Luis de Arrese declared.

In Barcelona recruiting booths opened at 3 p. m. with a long line of volunteers already waiting. Crowds of volunteers also were reported in Seville, El Ferrol, Oviedo, and Alicante.

Those selected must be between 20 and 28 years old, and must sign for the duration of the Russian war.

Enlistment officials said a preference would be given those experienced in handling automatic arms and artillery.

300 Pound Woman Given 14 to 25 Years as Slayer

Milwaukee, Wis., June 27—[Special].—Mrs. Alice Dornblaser, 51 years old, 300 pound housewife, was found guilty of second degree murder tonight by a Municipal court jury for the slaying of Miss Carrie Seymer, 58, a retired teacher, in the latter's apartment May 6. She was sentenced to from 14 to 25 years in prison. Mrs. Dornblaser bludgeoned and strangled Miss Seymer, her landlady, when the latter refused to reduce her rent. Mrs. Dornblaser pleaded insanity.

RUSSIANS BOMB FINNS AGAIN; HIT TURKU HARDEST

100 Buildings Destroyed in Harbor City.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 27 (AP).—Russian bombers struck anew today at Finnish centers, still scarred by aerial raids of the 1939-'40 Red army invasion, in the northernmost activity of a new battle front stretching from the White sea to the Black sea.

As in the winter conflict which Finland maintained for 3½ months before accepting the peace terms of Moscow on March 13, 1940, the port and shipbuilding center of Turku was the target most heavily hit.

100 Buildings Destroyed.

In that city on the Gulf of Bothnia, with a normal population of 66,500, more than 100 buildings were destroyed, other property was damaged, and numerous casualties were reported.

[Turku is a logical port for the landing of German troops which are reported to have been assigned to bolster the Finnish defense.]

President Risto Ryti indicated in a broadcast last night that the nation would resort to defensive warfare to ward off the blows which have been aimed at her since Adolf Hitler declared war on Russia Sunday and, as evidence of this, Finnish fighter planes patroled the skies above this capital today. The Russian attacks were on a generally reduced scale.

Thousands Believed Homeless.

Thousands of persons were believed by Finnish observers to be homeless. Reports of raids, however, were so terse as to be of little value in attempting an estimate of the total casualities and property damage.

The normal unconcern of Finns over air raids caused authorities to warn citizens today that those who do not go into bomb shelters during alarms are liable to punishment.

Finnish postal service was suspended to Russia, Britain, Canada and British possessions, Egypt, Dutch and Belgian possessions, and to French possessions in America and Asia.

BRITISH GENERAL IS EMBARRASSED BY N. Y. VICE RAID

By the New York News.

New York, June 27.—Some of the very best people, including a British general and an officer of the "Free French" army, were present when police raided the apartment of Princess Olga Proutelzkoy of the old Russian nobility, at 12:30 a. m. today. The police said the place was a house of prostitution.

The princess, who knew the czar and owned her own droshky in the dear days before Stalin, tried to escape thru an ingenious exit built into the wall of a bathroom. But she ran plump into a patrolman, who said the noblewoman hauled off and hit him with a doorknob which she happened to be carrying.

The princess said the whole thing was an outrage. But, as she was being led away, she handed $3,000 in cash to the British general, requesting him to keep it for her temporarily. She tucked away $300 on her person. She and three other women were arraigned later in Women's court. The general and his friend were not in court because the raiders permitted them to depart in dignity after they produced papers showing they were here on missions for their respective governments.

CIO UNION RE-ELECTS 3 LEADERS SERVING TERMS IN U. S. PRISON

New York, June 27 [Special].—Three imprisoned leaders of the CIO Furriers Joint council were reelected today without opposition. Irving Potash, manager of the union, who is serving a two year federal term for conspiring to obstruct justice, received 5,280 "yes" votes and 244 "no" votes, according to the official election report. Joseph Winogradsky, assistant manager, who is serving 18 months on the same charge, and Jack Schneider, business agent, serving an indeterminate sentence for coercion, also were returned to office.

TEXAS TO ELECT SENATOR TODAY; 4 GIVEN CHANCE

Austin, Tex., June 27 [Special].—The campaigns of a field of more than 20 candidates seeking the seat of the late Senator Morris Sheppard ended today and Texas prepared to go to the polls tomorrow to terminate the hopes of all but one of them.

The man who wins the election will serve the 18 months remaining of Sheppard's term. The state is now served by only one senator—Tom Connally, reëlected in 1940—because of the unexpected death last night of Senator Andrew Jackson Houston, 87 years old. The octogenarian had taken office on June 2 to fill an interim appointment that would have ended with the qualification of an elected successor.

A total of 29 candidates, all Democrats of course, originally entered the contest but several officially withdrew and others just quit trying. Only four are now believed to have a chance to win. They are Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, Congressman Lyndon Johnson, President Roosevelt's choice for the post; Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities, and State Attorney General Gerald Mann.

AMERICA FIRST HOLDS MEETING IN A VACANT LOT

Pasadena, Cal., June 27—[Special].—Barred from Pasadena's city schools because of a turbulent meeting recently at McKinley Junior High school, members of Pasadena's America First committee tonight met in a vacant lot.

In the midst of a denunciation of the school board for its refusal to grant use of the buildings, Charles S. Cobb, acting chairman of the committee, was halted by police summoned by a theater manager, who said the noise was disturbing patrons.

To Cobb's declaration that "the school board appears in sympathy with Union Now," the crowd cried "traitors." When Cobb concluded, William C. Dodson, executive secretary of the southern California America First committee, attempted to address the group to plead for calmer action, but was shouted down.

VICHY'S REACTION TO SOVIET WAR IS SOUGHT BY LEAHY

Hint U. S. Is Anxious Over Anti-Red Bloc.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, June 27.—Admiral William D. Leahy, American ambassador, called on Chief of State Petain today to learn the effects on French policy of the anti-communist bloc now forming around Germany as a result of its attack on Russia. It was Admiral Leahy's second visit to Marshal Petain within two weeks.

The interview indicated anxiety in Washington, D. C., about how European countries are going to line up with respect to the German and Russian protagonists. The anti-communist aspect of the war is believed to be drawing nearly all of Europe into the German orbit, but on the other hand diplomats are studying the effect of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's and President Roosevelt's decision to aid the Russians.

Talks with Soviet Envoy.

Admiral Leahy has had two talks this week with the Russian Ambassador M. Bogomolov here. The latest Leahy interview with Petain came just after Paris papers, arriving here, reported that a French volunteer anti-communist brigade is being formed in the occupied zone to fight against the Russians.

On this side of the demarcation line French sympathies are split between the Russians and the Germans, but there is no thought of taking any official attitude. Diplomatic relations with Russia are maintained as usual. The Russian embassy is unguarded.

On the other hand, it is reported that communist activities are being met with an increasingly strong hand in France. The activities apparently are not ceasing, for nearly every day reports of communist arrests are noted in the papers.

Raise Red Flag Over Church.

In Carcassone, two commuists who raised Red flags over a small parish church got 18 month prison sentences. A Carcassone barber, caught circulating communist phamphlets, was sentenced to four years in prison. In the same region, at Beziers, several other communists were arrested for printing Red tracts.

These communistic activities may have some influence in determining this country's position in the Russo-German clash.

MOLOTOV WELCOMES ENGLAND'S MISSION ON WAR AID TO MOSCOW

MOSCOW, June 27 (AP).—Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's ambassador, returned to Moscow today by plane and with him came a British military and economic mission with representatives from all branches of Britain's armed forces.

Cripps presented the mission of top-ranking British military and civilian officials and the diplomatic staff of the British embassy to Vyacheslav Molotov, soviet foreign commissar.

Lieut. Gen. Mason MacFarlane headed the delegation which also included Admiral Myles, Air Vice Marshal A. C. Collier and Laurence Cadbury, representng the bank of England.

LITHUANIA FREES EX-PREMIER WHO FOUGHT DICTATOR

Other Prisoners Win Freedom.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 27.—The Kaunas [Lithuania] radio today announced that Prof. Augustinas Waldemaras, a former premier of Lithuania, has been freed together with all political prisoners who were confined in Kaunas prison under the dictatorship of President Antanas Smetona. The latter now is a political refugee in America.

Waldemaras was sentenced in 1934 to 12 years in prison on charges of organizing a revolt against Smetona, who was the former premier's political partner before Smetona became president.

The Kaunas radio also reported that Lithuania's Jewish population had been forced to flee. In Kaunas, which has a population of 135,000, there were 36,000 Jews and 20,000 soviet officials sent there by Moscow. There were 500,000 Jews in Lithuania including the Vilna district. Many have fled with the Red army into Russia.

A state funeral was held in Kaunas today for 3,000 Lithuanians who were killed when they attacked Red army detachments. In fighting near Kaunas 7,000 other Lithuanians were wounded. These detachments saved two bridges over the Niemen river. One was the railroad bridge and the other a new bridge connecting Kaunas with the suburb of Williampol.

BOMB COASTAL AREA OF FRANCE FOR 17TH NIGHT

British Claim Direct Hits on Steel Works.

LONDON, June 28 [Saturday] (AP).—The royal air force pounded the French coast shortly after midnight this morning, dropping fresh loads of bombs across the Dover strait for the 17th consecutive night.

Shattering explosions awakened the people on the English side who had gone to bed thinking that the British attacks had been finished for the night. Earlier in the night and during the day the RAF had been busy hammering at the German held positions.

Direct hits were claimed on a steel and engineering works near Lille. Bombers of the coastal command, escorted by fighters, attacked a German ship of 3,000 tons off Dnukirk and left it sinking.

The British acknowledged the loss of 10 fighter planes in these extensive operations. Seven German planes were destroyed.

Germans Sink 49,500 Tons.

BERLIN, June 27 (AP).—New German blows to British commerce, by submarine as far off as the mid-Atlantic off the African coast and by air as close as the home waters of the English east coast, have sunk another eight ships totaling 49,500 tons, the German high command declared today.

Five were credited to one undersea raider off West Africa and three others to overnight air assaults on southern England which, the war bulletin said, struck also at Thames estuary harbors and an airport.

Six British planes attempting to fly into German occupied territory today were shot down, the official news agency DNB reported. The British were said to have lost 15 warplanes yesterday in offensives against Germany. Britain's night bombers dropped explosives and incendiaries on western Germany, but caused only slight civilian casualties and nonmilitary damage.

Hear Munitions Dump Blows Up.

New York, June 27 (AP).—The British radio quoted a "Free Dutch" newspaper, Frij Nederland, today as saying a German munitions dump had been blown up at Amersfoort, in central Holland, and more than 100 terrific explosions shattered windows and roofs as far away as six miles.

MOVING BUREAUS OUTSIDE CAPITAL GAINS RECRUITS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—The house rules committee today reported favorably on a resolution creating a committee of nine to investigate the feasibility of transferring some of the multitudinous government bureaus in the District of Columbia to other parts of the United States.

Approximately 175,000 government employés are now on the pay roll in the capital alone. With their families, they represent an army of some half a million persons. It has proved almost impossible to find office space for these workers. Agitation was started some time ago to remove some of the government agencies to cities where they would be in closer touch with their work.

Altho President Roosevelt and members of his official family have indicated their displeasure with any attempt at decentralization of the government, a movement to this end gained much favor in congress. The rules committee action is expected to be followed in the near future with house and senate approval of the resolution for an investigation.

THE BARBER SHOP SINGERS SOUND A DISCORDANT NOTE

As the Chicago chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singers of America prepared last night to send delegates to the national contest in St. Louis, Mo., July 3, 4, and 5, a dispute among the officers threatened the chapter's peaceful existence.

Henry M. Hedges, an Evanston contractor who is a national director of the organization and president of the Chicago chapter, reported at their jamboree in the Morrison hotel that he had established a chapter of 12 natives while vacationing in Borabora, in the Society Islands. It took him two weeks, he said proudly, to teach them enough English to sing "Bright Is the Night."

Ray Kaspar, secretary of the chapter, asserted it is unconstitutional to establish a chapter outside the two Americas. Besides, he said, the natives haven't any lapels in which to wear the society insignia, a miniature barber pole. But in spite of the dispute, there was harmony as heavily mustached quartets displayed the wares they will take to the St. Louis contest. Hedges hopes to bring the contest to Chicago in 1942.

The couple arrived at San Francisco Wednesday on the liner Lurline. Miss Lamour is to start work soon on a new motion picture.

BRITISH SLOWED DOWN IN SYRIA, FRANCE CLAIMS

Australian Coastal Unit Stopped.

VICHY, France, June 27 (AP).—British attacks in the Damascus area have been repulsed with heavy losses and their offensive generally has been halted on the whole Syrian front, the French reported tonight.

Despite heavy British naval bombardment of French positions, particularly in the Beirut region, an Australian column on the coast has made no progress. French planes attacked the British warships.

French sources said water was one key to successful French defense of the desert base of Palmyra. Because the French hold the oasis' water wells, they asserted the British have to go back about 50 miles to fill their tanks and have to interrupt their attacks to protect their water convoys.

Several French planes admittedly were hit in British air attacks on the Rayak field.

British Claim Gains.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 27 (AP).—The British middle east command said today that British and "Free French" troops had "increased the extent of their penetration" north and northwest of captured Damascus in the invasion of Syria.

The RAF reported several attacks on French held airdromes in Syria and the destruction of 11 French planes. Rayak and Homs, north of Damascus, and Deir-Ez-Zor, on the Euphrates river in eastern Syria, were the main targets.

Turkey Grants Travel Rights.

ANKARA, Turkey, June 27 (AP).—A high Turkish source today said that Turkey has granted permission for the evacuation across its territory of French forces now fighting in Syria provided they travel as unarmed civilians. The French embassy conceded that it hoped to evacuate 20,000 refugees.

[This, apparently, was a virtual confession that the French are approaching the end of their resistance in Syria. The Ankara embassy did not distinguish between civilian and soldier "refugees," but there probably are not as many as 20,000 noncombatant Frenchmen in the whole mandate.]

CLERKS' $910,000 ACCOUNTING SUIT UPHELD BY COURT

Judge Philip J. Finnegan in Circuit court yesterday refused to dismiss an accounting suit against Max Caldwell, alias Max Pollack, czar of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks Protective association. Besides asking an accounting of $910,000 of union funds the action seeks a temporary injunction to restrain Caldwell and his henchmen from intimidating members.

After denying the dismissal petition filed by Attorney Harold Marovitz Judge Finnegan ordered Master in Chancery Daniel A. Covelli to hold a hearing to report whether a temporary injunction should be issued. Covelli set the hearing for Monday.

Caldwell and nine of his aids and officers in the union have been suspended by the international, with which the union had been affiliated. A committee headed by Harry O'Reilly, regional director for the American Federation of Labor, has taken over the union's affairs.

AMERICA SHORT OF AMMUNITION, F. D. R. ADMITS

Ireland May Get Rifles, President Discloses.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 27.—Admitting that some phases of the armament program are not up to expectations, President Roosevelt disclosed today that the government may provide Ireland with some rifles, but no ammunition for them.

He indicated, too, that whether or not Ireland gets the weapons as requested depends upon assurances that they would be used to repel any attempted Nazi invasion of the Irish republic.

In response to questions at a press conference at his mother's home here, where he is spending a long weekend, Mr. Roosevelt said that the production of rifles is getting along pretty well, but ammunition output is far behind and it has been necessary to construct many new munitions plants.

Some Are Unsatisfactory.

As to whether he was satisfied with the management and progress of the arms program, the President said he could express no "glittering generality" on that question, but some things were satisfactory and others were not.

In some fields production has reached a peak, while in others the peak will not be reached for 6, 8, or 12 months, Mr. Roosevelt asserted without going into details. Within the last week the Office of Production Management has been reorganized along the lines of the old war industries board of the first world war in order to pep up the lagging arms program.

On the matter of Irish aid, the President said that Ireland already has been allowed to take over three ships for transporting food supplies, including a $500,000 gift of food from the American Red Cross. He denied that the United States has taken up with the Irish government any proposition for acquiring bases and claimed that the British government never has mentioned the possibility of seizing such bases for its own purposes.

Silent on Russian Aid.

The President still declined to specify what aid might be rendered communistic Russia under his pledge of such support, but he supposedly discussed this today in a long distance telephone conversation with Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, who yesterday conferred with soviet Ambassador Constantine Oumansky for the first time since the Nazi-soviet war. Also, Harry L. Hopkins, lend-lease administrator, is expected at the temporary White House tomorrow to spend the week-end.

ANKARA, Turkey, June 27.—The Turkish government has advised newspapers to tone down their recent anti-Russian attitude in accordance with the proclaimed neutrality of the country in the war between the reich and the soviet. Moscow's denials of Berlin allegations concerning alleged soviet intentions on the Turkish straits have been well received here.

The first Bofors 40 millimeter rapid fire anti-aircraft gun made by the Chrysler corporation.

Two Are Shipped

Detroit, Mich., June 27 [Special].—The first two Bofors 40 millimeter rapid fire anti-aircraft guns made in this country were shipped today from the Chrysler corporation plant here to Akron, O. Announcement of the completion of the guns was made yesterday at the Chrysler factory, which has contracted to turn out 300 Bofors a month as soon as possible.

At Akron the mountings of the weapons will be added and then they will be shipped on to Aberdeen, Md., for firing tests. Military authorities regard the gun as one of the best defenses against dive bombing.

Manufacture of the guns will be spread among nine Chrysler plants in Detroit and Indiana. Quantity production is expected to begin by late fall or early winter. Chrysler has been commissioned to make all of the guns, including the sights, except the mounts, which the Firestone Rubber company will make.

DESIGNER TESTS NEW LIFE SAVING SUIT IN RIVER

A life saving suit which its designer says will keep a person dry and warm in water as cold as 12 degrees below zero was demonstrated yesterday in the Chicago river. The designer is Capt. H. L. Beauvais of the Boland and Cornelius Steamship company of Buffalo, N. Y.

Capt. Beauvais, who is 60 years old and has sailed the lakes all his life, demonstrated the suit. The suit, which weighs 12 pounds and is made of rubberized cloth, encloses the body from the neck to the feet. A rubber cap is worn with the suit, leaving only the face exposed.

Capt. Beauvais, who has applied for patents in United States and Canada, said the feature of the suit is a double collar and shoulder zippers which make the suit water tight.

RED WAR MAY PIT SOME U. S. ARMS AGAINST OTHERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—If President Roosevelt's pledge of aid to Russia takes the form of arms, American weapons may be employed against American weapons on the Russo-German battle front.

The United States shipped a quantity of munitions to Finland when that country was battling Russian invaders in the winter of 1939. Some of these weapons are still in service, and soon may go into action again now that Finland has become an ally of Germany by declaring war against Russia.

The army sold Finland 200 75 mm. guns for $1,527 each, or a total of $305,529, and also 32 eight inch howitzers at about $7,000 each, or a total of $233,049. At the same time the army sold 9,200 projectiles for the eight inch howitzers and 11,000 fuses for the guns. The original cost of the weapons to the army was many times the sale price to Finland.

Planes Also Sold.

In addition to the items stripped from the army, the United States sold planes and other new weapons to Finland. Some of these are said to be part of the equipment of Finnish forces.

Many weapons were sold by the war department to Great Britain to replace material which British forces left behind in the retreat of Dunkirk. Among other weapons, the British purchased almost 995,000 rifles for $7,087,500 or $7.50 each. These cost about $40 each to make.

It has been reported that the British resold a portion of these weapons to Turkey at a good profit. The British sale price, according to reports, was $12 a rifle. Army officials here said they had no knowledge of such a resale by the British.

The army sold more than $22,000,000 worth of war material to Britain which originally cost the war department almost 60 million dollars.

Causes Ammunition Shortage.

In the sales was a considerable quantity of ammunition. The sale of this ammunition contributed to the acute shortage of ammunition under the United States' rearmament program. The Roosevelt administration has plans to build plants for production of powder and shells, but almost none is being turned out at present. At the present production rate the administration could not maintain an adequate supply of ammunition for an expeditionary force, if it should send one abroad.

FAMILY SUPPORT $400 IN ARREARS; GETS SIX MONTHS

Norman Shogren, 38 years old, a real estate broker living at 8217 Rhodes avenue, was sent to the County jail for six months by Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday for being $400 in arrears for the support of his wife, Lillian, 35, of 6052 Dorchester avenue, and a daughter, Norma, 11. Shogren was to pay $75 a month according to a temporary support order.

Norman Becker, attorney for Mrs. Shogren, told Judge Sabath Shogren had paid only $5 during June, that the child is seriously ill and needs medical attention, and that Mrs. Shogren faces eviction from her apartment July 1.

The Shogrens were married Sept. 2, 1927, and separated June 7, 1938. Shogren has filed a divorce bill charging cruelty and his wife a crossbill with the same charge.

EXPLOSION MAY HAVE SUNK SUB, SAYS AN EXPERT

It Was Something Inside, Navy Court Told.

New London, Conn., June 27 (AP).—Lieutenant Commander Robert M. Peacher testified today that it was "conceivable" an explosion might have taken place on the O-9 before the submarine plunged to the bottom of the ocean off Portsmouth, N. H., carrying 33 men to their death.

Peacher, commander of submarine division 1L to which the O-9 was assigned, quickly told a navy court of inquiry, however, that "1,001 things may have happened," and that he had given the matter long thought before advancing the explosion theory.

"However, I do believe it was something that happened inside the boat. There was no structural collapse," he added.

"Ill Advised Comment."

To meet what he called "ill advised comment" about the 23 year old submarine's condition. Commander Peacher said about $600,000 had been spent recommissioning the O-9, a figure which he said closely approximated her original cost. She was in better condition, he maintained, than 40 other old type submarines which have been returned to service.

Commander Peacher faced the court after testimony of Capt. Elwin F. Cutts, commander of the submarine base here. He said as far as he knew the O19 was "all right" when she reported here June 2, just 18 days before the tragedy.

Cutts told Commander Scott Umsted, staff member of the naval war college at Newport, R. I., that while the O-9 had been in New London, her commander, Lieut. Howard J. Abbott, had requested only "mild repairs."

Some Previous Dives.

He referred to the records covering the sunken submarine which, he said, showed that while attached to the base here she had made eight dives, "some of which included several quick dives."

Asked whether the state of training of the crew warranted submergence tests by the O-9, the submarine base commander replied, "yes."

Besides Commanders McCann and Umsted, the board comprised Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant, commandant of the 1st naval district, Boston navy yard, and Capt. John Brown, captain of the yard, Portsmouth.

Charles Spitzer.

Charles Spitzer, 15 years old, 4322 North Hazel avenue, drowned off Waveland avenue in Lake Michigan yesterday as thousands of persons went to the shore seeking relief from the heat. Twenty-three city beaches are to open today, and 140 lifeguards will go on duty. A skeleton staff of guards has been maintained at some beaches in the last few days.

Kenneth Viers, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Viers of Lowell, 30 miles south of Hammond, Ind., drowned yesterday when he stepped into a hole in Cedar creek while wading with playmates. Dewitt Pinkstaff, 23, of 504 Grove street, Indiana Harbor, a steel worker, drowned in Lake Michigan off Lake Front park, Indiana Harbor, when he was stricken with cramps.

3 CONGRESSMEN START POLL ON WAR QUESTION

Washington, D. C., June 27 [Special].—Three congressmen—a Progressive, Democrat, and Republican—prepared today to poll their constituents on whether the United States should enter the war.

Following the lead of Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] are Harry Sauthoff [P., Wis.], Knute Hill [D., Wash.], and Paul W. Shafer [R., Mich.].

Today's returns in the Fish canvass, taken in President Roosevelt's Hyde Park neighborhood, showed 2,689 for America's entrance into the war and 24,325 opposed—still maintaining a 9 to 1 ratio.

TANKS! FIGHTING AND USING THEM ARMY PROBLEM

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Second Army Headquarters, Manchester, Tenn., June 27.—An armored force of tanks and steel clad scout cars is not invincible in battle by itself, but must be supported and protected by fighting aviation. It should have bombardment planes to precede it and soften opposition, and air supremacy attained by fighter planes at the time of the attack.

This is one of the most important lessons learned during the month long maneuvers just concluded in this 600 square mile area of mid-Tennessee, Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army, said today.

Armored Division Participates.

During these June maneuvers an armored division of the United States army participated for the first time in such large scale war games. It was the 2d armored division, which journeyed here from its base at Fort Benning, Ga., two weeks ago, and since then has taken part in four mock battles with the three other divisions in the field. These are the 5th division of regular infantry from Fort Custer, Mich., the 27th [New York] from Fort McClellan, Ala., and the 30th [Tennessee, Georgia, and Carolinas] from Fort Jackson, S. C.

"Mechanized units must be supported by all of our other combat arms, infantry, artillery, and aviation," Gen. Lear explained. "But most important to the success of mechanized attacks is well coördinated bombardment fighter plane assistance."

During the mock battles in which the 2d armored division participated the only aviation used were several observation squadrons and one light bombardment unit. No fighter squadrons took part.

Tank Defense Not Satisfactory.

Another question studied during the June maneuvers was that of anti-tank defense, Gen. Lear said.

"Our big job is to determine just how large guns should be to meet tanks on something near even terms, and then to get those guns for the army's anti-tank units," he stated. "Foot soldiers, at first startled by the awesome spectacle of tanks crashing at them thru the woods, have overcome this psychological handicap, and have found that with big enough guns, guns that can be moved quickly, they have a chance."

During the maneuvers the only anti-tank weapons used were .50 caliber machine guns, which will not penetrate the armor of present-day tanks; 37 mm. guns, and World war type 75 mm. guns mounted on split-trail carriages which give them greater traverse and elevation.

Predicts Organization Changes.

"By the time it is determined just what guns should be used in anti-tank defense, the organization of the army should be changed to give divisions, corps, and armies much more anti-tank defense within their individual units," Gen. Lear said.

Gen. Lear did not go into details on this coming organizational change. The maneuvers, however, have proved that the present anti-tank defenses of divisions and corps are not sufficient to stop armored attacks. In the last battle problem, which began at dawn yesterday and ended shortly after noon, the armored division smashed at will thru two divisions of infantry despite all efforts made to stop it.

Troops Back to Stations.

The 77,000 troops who have participated in the war games will begin the trek to their home stations or training camps Monday. A dozen trains of flat cars, loaded with the tanks and scouting machines of the armored division, will leave at one minute after midnight Sunday for Fort Benning.

The bulk of the 2d armored division's 11,000 men will travel back to their stations by motor convoy, it was stated. Their departures will be staggered over Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Most of the 15,000 men of the 5th division will make the trip back to Fort Custer, Mich., by rail, but a sizable detachment will travel by road to bring home the unit's motor equipment. Motor convoys will be used to transport the 30th division to Fort Jackson, S. C., and the 27th division to Fort McClellan, Ala.

SMOKE-SCREEN DANGER
Stop-Look-Listen

THE fat's in the fire and the smelly smoke of management propaganda against the just demands of railroad labor is already beginning to besmirch the brightening horizons of labor's aspirations to maintain itself in the community of decent, self-respecting, democratic Americans. Don't be misled. This is all a gigantic plot, and Railway Age—that unofficial and pampered organ of the railroads—gave the show away in a recent issue when it intimated that public opinion must be whipped up to oppose these demands of labor "in the right ways and through the right channels." The recent blast of The Western Railways attempting to influence public opinion is a typical example of this. The public should seek the facts and not fall into this misleading trap.

One Million Americans Can't Be Wrong

Over one million American railroad workers who, along with their families, approximate five million staunch Americans, are demanding major wage adjustments to permit them to share in the soaring earnings of the railway industry and maintain the position of their families' standard of living on a respectable and decent basis in the community in the face of substantial rises in the cost of living threatened immediately ahead.

The facts are that wages of railroad workers are not high now and they have not kept pace with those paid in similar industries. According to the figures of the Railroad Retirement Board covering 1,376,266 employees reported by the railroads in 1939, less than 25 per cent of them received $2000 per year or over; over 75 per cent of all railroad employees who worked in 1939 actually received less than $2000 per year. Moreover, over 40 per cent of these 1,376,266 railroad workers were paid under $1000 per year; about 16 per cent received between $1000 and $1500 per year; and 19 per cent $1500 to $2000 during 1939. The gross inadequacy of these wages to workers loyally performing under the continuous hazards of railroading and charged with the lives and valuable property of the public is almost appalling.

Authoritative estimates indicate that an income of $2,084 per year is required as a minimum to provide a family with adequate food, clothing, shelter, medical care, and other accepted necessities of an American standard of living. Stop and compare these estimates with the fact that over 75 per cent of railway workers actually receive less than $2,000 per year and you will understand why labor now demands wage adjustments.

In the last four years the productivity per unit of labor has increased 43 per cent yet railway workers have had no opportunity to participate in the fruits of their increased efficiency. The public, in many instances, does not know these facts. It is not fully aware of the patience of railway-labor. It does not fully realize that transportation workers have not participated in the improved condition of their own industry as in the case of other workers.

Smoke from Burned-out Assets

Each time railroad workers arise to assert their rights, they are confronted with the eternal smoke from the dying embers of burned-out and obsolete assets. You, the public, will have this smoke-screen blown in your face continuously from now on by railway management in its efforts to beat down these just demands of labor and to hoard the profits now being made from America's increasing prosperity.

Don't Be Deceived

Do not be deceived by this "plea" on the part of management to withhold labor's just share so that management may dissipate it in paying tribute to the unfair demands of excessive fixed charges.

Again Railway Age—that well-fed handmaiden of the railroads—let the cat out of the bag when it unthinkingly told the truth about railroad costs. Speaking of rate-making, Railway Age said: "Certainly, it is not to the interest of the railroads or of the shipping public that calculations of railway costs be made to include a theoretical return of five or more per cent on ancient investments which have not earned an average even of two per cent in many years." Simply include railway labor along with the railroads and the shipping public and you have a complete picture. Why try to continue to saddle the cost of earning a return upon "ancient investments" on labor's back and deny labor a fair wage? At last the truth is out and well spoken.

The position of railroad labor is very simple. Labor feels that it is entitled to higher wages; that increases are necessary; that the funds are available from soaring railroad profits.

Labor has sacrificed enough. It has lost jobs and gone on part-time without end, all in its efforts to co-operate and help the roads. Now is the time for a definite reappraisement of labor's rights and interests. Labor does not intend to continue to see itself sacrificed on the merry-go-round of earning a return on "ancient investments." It knows that the public will sympathetically understand its demands as a question of social justice and wise economics; a question of human happiness, contentment, and an honest return for labor.

Railway labor is a substantial part of the working public and a substantial part of the public is railway labor. Their interests are the same—an honest return for a good day's work, a decent American standard of living, and a chance to rise with expanding America. The public will realize that the smoke-screened demands of management and finance can get nowhere in the face of the just demands of the clear-thinking, clear-eyed, clean-handed men who man the greatest transportation system on earth.

U. S. DOMINATED BY BRITAIN SINCE 1935!—GILLETTE

Every Statute 'Instigated,' Says Senator.

Des Moines, Ia., June 27 [Special].—Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] charged here today that the United States is "groping like a blind man" in the international war situation.

Speaking before the Des Moines chamber of commerce, Gillette declared that not even the state department in Washington had the least inkling that Germany would invade Dictator Stalin's Soviet Russia, and added: "That just illustrates the tragic situation we are in."

Gillette, who for many months has fought in congress against the successive steps toward war, charged that "every single statute that has gone on the books in America since 1935 has been in the interest and at the instigation of the British foreign office."

Claims Ample Proof.

As a member of senate foreign relations committee, Gillette said he had ample evidence to prove this charge should it be denied by prowar elements of the country.

Gillette reviewed the battle waged by a large number of congressmen against the folly of President Roosevelt's lend-lease bill and asserted that nothing which had transpired since passage of the act had altered his opposition to it.

"The United States, despite its defense program, is still badly unprepared for war," said Gillette. "O, yes, some of our army officials are enthusiastic about our one complete army mechanized unit.

"But I cannot wax so enthusiastic when I think of Germany's many mechanized divisions."

Seeks to Stave Off Debacle.

In a plea against "throwing the United States into the European war just because some of our leaders think it is inevitable that we will be drawn in later," Gillette said:

"Even tho our leaders have apparently committed our future policy, it is our responsibility to stave off such a debacle for as long as we can."

Gillette admitted that "we do have a superb navy," one which stands to grow more powerful week by week. The army, however, is "a different story," he declared.

Gillette predicted that as the months pass the United States must "grope" for facts connected with the fighting in Europe.

"That will be necessary because not one of us, not even our state department, can be so omnipotent as to foresee what will happen next," he said.

U. S. COURT VOIDS 9 CONVICTIONS IN CUT STONE CASE

Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday set aside anti-trust convictions against four labor union officials, two unions, one cut stone contracting concern, and two contractors. They were found guilty by a federal district court jury last month of conspiracy to prevent the use of building stone fabricated in Indiana in the construction of the south side vocational school at 87th street and Chappel avenue.

The court declared the contractor defendants had not been shown guilty beyond a reasonable doubt and that the court had erred in not ordering a directed verdict of not guilty for them. With the contractors eliminated, Judge Woodward said, the union defendants alone could not be guilty of conspiracy. He ordered a new trial for all.

The jury's deliberations lasted 19 hours. Three contractors and two contracting concerns were found not guilty. Three union officials also charged with conspiracy in the original indictment were dismissed. Evidence was introduced at the trial to show the alleged conspiracy resulted from meetings between union officials and contractors in 1939.

Ex-Governor Stelle Pays a $345 Fine to the AAA

Decatur, Ill., June 27 [Special].—Former Gov. John Stelle of McLeansboro sent the Illinois AAA headquarters here a check for $345 in payment of a penalty imposed on him for having grown 723 bushels of excess wheat on his Hamilton county farm, it was disclosed today. The office reported it has received $65,000 in cash on penalties assessed against wheat growers for grain marketed in excess of AAA quotas. The penalty is figured at 49 cents a bushel in excess of the farm's AAA allotment.

TRANSIT LINES' OWNERS TO VOTE ON UNIFICATION

Chicago's transit unification ordinance will be submitted next month to the lines' 75,000 securities holders, Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe announced yesterday. The ordinance was passed last week by the city council after a 14 year dispute with the transit lines.

Judge Igoe set the next hearing for July 11, when, he said, plans will be made for putting the merger plan to a vote of the investors.

William H. Sexton, traction counsel for the city, told the court at yesterday's hearing that the city expects to hold a referendum on the traction plan Nov. 4, but that it wants assurance by Sept. 23 that securities holders of the company will accept the plan. The ordinance, which contemplates a 102 million dollar transit improvement program, will not be effective until approved by the investors and the public.

Henry F. Tenney, attorney for the surface lines' largest securities committee, representing $41,700,000 of first mortgage bonds, told the court his committee still favors a separate court reorganization of the surface lines rather than unification.

GERMAN DAY FETE TOMORROW; BAN SWASTIKA, TALKS

The annual German day picnic and outing will be held tomorrow in Riverview park. Michael Belden, president of the German Day Association, Inc., sponsors of the picnic, said there will be no speakers at this year's outing. Nor will the German colors be displayed, he said.

"This organization, in principle as well as in practice, has no political creed or program," he said, "and takes no position of any kind in such controversies. We are Americans, first and foremost."

Belden said the decision not to display the German colors was made to avoid "any misconception of our activities and of our loyalty to this, our country."

CALLS THE GOAL OF 'UNION NOW' SAME AS HITLER'S

Backer of Streit Says His Methods Are Different.

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 27.—Advocates of federal union, Clarence K. Streit's plan for a union of the United States and the six still free democracies of the British commonwealth of nations, meeting here today to open their first annual convention, were told that Streit and Adolph Hitler are brothers under the skin.

Dr. Stringfellow Barr, president of St. John's college at Annapolis, Md., said that both Streit and Hitler had grasped the "fundamental concept" that the present day world was a unity, and that both had set out to carry the implications of this to their logical conclusion.

Methods Are Different.

The methods of the two men, Dr. Barr explained, are radically different, but both Streit and Hitler are working in their separate ways toward the common end of bringing into being a unified planet. Under Hitler, the world is to be unified by the sword. Under Streit, it would be unified thru the weapon of enlightenment.

"Three centuries ago," Dr. Barr told the 250 delegates from 30 states attending the three day meeting, "the most hard boiled political thinker the English speaking world has ever produced asserted that there were only two ways to end anarchy by forming an ordered state.

"One method was by acquisition and the second method by institution. Our contemporary words for these two words of Thomas Hobbes are 'conquest' and 'federation.' Hitler analyzed the first way in 'Mein Kampf.' Clarence K. Streit has analyzed the other way in 'Union Now.'

"No Other Ways."

"No other ways than these two existed when Thomas Hobbes wrote 'The Leviathan,' his treatise on the organization of the state. No other ways than these two exist today.

"If our generation decides to put an end to anarchy in our western world—an anarchy which expressed itself from 1914 to 1918 in the World war, an anarchy which 10 took the form of white war and gray war, and finally, two years ago, red war again—then our generation must choose between an order imposed by violence and an order we Americans achieved when our 13 states formed a federal union.

"We unionists are determined that federal union shall be the solution and we are deeply convinced that other Americans who share our abhorrence of Hitler's way will now, or shortly, cast their lot with union, too."

Dr. Barr attended Oxford university as a Rhodes scholar.

TRIBUNE POLL ON WAR.

The New York News is taking a poll in New York state on the question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?" A postcard ballot is being sent to every tenth name on the voting list in every election district in New York state. The ballots will be counted in the presence of representatives of the America First committee and of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

The reasons which prompted the New York News to undertake this poll are stated in an editorial which is reprinted in part on this page today. They are good reasons in New York and they are good reasons in Illinois. We aren't too proud to pick up a sound idea, even if we didn't think of it first. Accordingly, THE TRIBUNE will conduct a similar poll in Illinois. We hope to have the first of the postcards in the mails within a few days. Because lists of voters in the predominantly rural sections of the state are not readily available, the poll for the present, at least, must be confined to Chicago, the outlying sections of Cook county, and some nine downstate cities.

We do not think there can be any objection from either side to the phrasing of the question. As The News says, "We have thus worded the question because that is the question at issue between the isolationists and the interventionists. The question is not whether we should go to war if South America or Canada were invaded, or whether Hitler's declaration of war on Russia makes it more or less advisable for us to get into the war, or any other question with some 'if' in it. The big dispute now is over the question: 'Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?' And that is the question we are asking on these ballots."

From day to day THE TRIBUNE will publish the returns from the two polls.

Each side in the controversy has claimed the support of the great majority of the people. So far as New York and Illinois are concerned, the truth of these rival claims will now be tested. New York has been called the hotbed of interventionism and Illinois the stronghold of isolationism. We shall see what we shall see.

WHO WILL BE WHO IN UNION NOW?

A Union Now congress is meeting in Cleveland to consider an abridged program which contemplates the federation of the United States and six British commonwealths. Other countries eligible in the original scheme are occupied and under restraint. Most of our Union Now addicts never bothered much about the other countries anyway. Their desire is for a return to the empire. They don't put the matter in that form and, consequently, are left in a dilemma.

No one has quite satisfactorily explained what would prevail in a federal union embracing British and Americans—whether the constitution of the United States or the constitution of Great Britain. They don't run on the same track and if they ever got on the same track there would be a head-on collision.

"No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States." A union which represented political principles, as this proposed union is to do, would be required to take notice of that American prohibition. It wasn't an inconsiderable item at the time it was adopted and it isn't now. It represented the desire of the American people to have what they regarded as a free society for the average man. They cut loose from noble orders as well as from the monarchy because they thought the noble orders were detrimental to the development of the free society. Some of us still think they were right.

A union based on the acceptance of common doctrines and principles couldn't be part one thing and part the other. No doubt some Union Nowers would not require the abolition of titles in the union and some of them might even accept a peerage as a reward for their efforts in bringing about a cancellation of the Declaration of Independence.

COLLEGE ENGLISH.

President Willard and the trustees of the University of Illinois have decided they can no longer tolerate the presence in the university of young men and women who can't use the English language with reasonable accuracy and fluency. A standard of competence is to be set. Any student who can't meet it after three semesters will be dismissed and will not be reinstated until he has passed the elementary English test.

The remedy is drastic, but it is sound. Many colleges—Illinois among them—will not give a diploma to a student who can't swim the length of the tank, no matter how good a record he may have made in the classroom. It is not unreasonable to expect an educated man to write as proficiently as he swims. Every college graduate who can't make his sentences say what he wants them to say and can't make his paragraphs march to their goal is a living advertisement of a lazy faculty upon which money is being wasted.

The action taken by the university would not have been required, of course, if the grade schools and high schools had not neglected to do their part. Children have been graduated from the elementary schools who can't read fluently, much less write accurately. Children are being graduated from the high schools who don't know a noun from a verb, to whom punctuation is a mystery beyond unraveling. Perhaps the new regulation at the university will shame the teachers in the secondary schools into establishing higher standards of accomplishment in English.

When high school and college students have learned to write and speak, perhaps some attention may be directed to the deficiencies of college faculties. Any one who leaps to the conclusion that we have been reading the American Journal of Sociology will have made no mistake. From a recent number this flower was culled:

"With the possible exception of some of the smaller organizations maintained by outsiders in the community, almost every person in that area is affiliated to one or more of the organizations which are represented in this community council." You can guess what the learned author is trying to say but you can't be sure.

Another learned author, this one a Harvard professor, writes: "In the realist community type one finds a rather settled stable population mostly born in the region. . . ."

"In this above paragraph," says the doctor of philosophy at another point. And at still another: "In the same manner the settlement of the Pontine Marshes was done in solid groups of Italians from the districts near Venice."

This from a third stylist: "An ideal typical picture of a residential succession, at least when minority peoples are involved, entails a number of aspects or stages. These are interwoven and overlap in time."

And this from a fourth: "Typical for this type of an arrangement is the mutual isolation of different minor groups of furniture."

It is to be hoped that the standards to be set for freshmen at the University of Illinois will be somewhat higher than those of the learned journal.

"WHY ENTANGLE OUR PEACE?"

President Ryti of Finland has informed his fellow countrymen that for the second time in less than two years they are at war with Russia. With absolute faith in the army, Ryti says, Finland is fighting "for her liberty, her Christian faith, for her living space, and is a solidly united nation." The other war began Nov. 20, 1939, when the Russians attacked, and it was ended March 13, 1940, with a peace which made half a million Finns homeless.

The French and British, then allies and now at war in Syria against each other, had promised aid to Finland. So had the United States. Finland was then a free country, defending itself against the hordes of an Asiatic barbarism. After the Finns had been compelled, in the lack of any effective aid, to capitulate, Mr. Chamberlain—then prime minister—addressed the house of commons and said he wished the very first impressions that a great tragedy had occurred could have been lightened by a subsequent study of the peace, but that no such consolation was discoverable.

It had not been possible for the allies to give the aid they were willing to extend to the brave little nation, because it would have been necessary to cross Scandinavia and the Scandinavians, knowing that the Germans would attack if the French and the British came in, tried to avoid the extension of the battlefields to their land. Germany's pact with Russia, said Mr. Chamberlain, had brought this calamity down upon a democracy whose plight profoundly affected the sympathy of all free peoples.

There was in his address a note of reproach to certain critics of allied behavior in the far distance, apparently in the United States, who didn't know the difficulties or would not take them into consideration.

Now Finland is again at war, with Russian bombers over its cities, and Mr. Churchill—Mr. Chamberlain's successor—has declared that all aid will be given the Russians against Hitler, who has double-crossed his Red friend. Mr. Churchill should not be taunted. His case is a hard one. But to the Finns the Russian hasn't changed his stripes and since November, 1939, these people have learned a great deal more about him than they ever wanted to know. This isn't the czarist Russian who permitted Finland to be governed as a grand duchy. It is the soviet Russian who destroys the decencies of life. It is the same Russian whose success in crushing the Finnish defenders almost brought tears to Mr. Chamberlain's eyes, and no doubt Mr. Churchill felt the same way about it.

The present conditions in Europe may not be unparalleled, but if they are not it is because they are so thoroly European. Mention is made of 300,000 Polish soldiers who are Russian prisoners of war. If that's the number, it represents the men taken when Stalin moved in to mop up what Hitler allowed him to have. It wasn't quite half of the Polish land or nearly half the Polish population, and much of it was the inferior parts of the country.

Stalin had a treaty with Poland but that was a small matter. Foreign Minister Molotov disposed of it by handing the Polish ambassador in Moscow, two weeks after the Nazis had attacked, a note informing him that treaties had to cease to operate because there wasn't any Polish government. Poland disappeared under the hoofs of Brothers Stalin and Hitler.

The refugee Polish government in London has intimated that Poland will take another chance with Russia, with certain guaranties. What they would be worth can be conjectured in the light of what other guaranties have been worth.

Apparently, the Baltic states have thrown in with the Nazis, with the conviction that nothing could be worse than the rule the communists imposed on them. They also have large experience to form a judgment. It may be a tough decision to choose between these two tyrannies, but four of the small oppressed states which we have regarded as democracies to be preserved at all costs apparently will do anything to get rid of Mr. Roosevelt's new ally, Stalin. Those who quarrel with their decision haven't had to accept their experiences.

"Why," asked George Washington, "by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor, or caprice?"

No one has yet given a good answer to that. The present condition of Europe does not.

EXCELSIOR!

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

One is compelled to admire the sterling optimism with which the new collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh enters upon his task.

For years and years the government and various collectors have been trying to get the $4,165 in back income taxes Senator Guffey has owed since along in 1923.

Does the new collector give up? Does he hedge, does he falter, does he temporize? Not a whit. He expresses confidence that some day, somewhere, the senator will settle up with the United States, when by scrimping and saving and depriving himself of the pleasures that other senators enjoy he manages to save $4,165 out of the meager $10,000 salary he draws at Washington.

That's the spirit! Never say die.

TO MOZART.

And when at length I wrench my sickened eyes
Away in horror from headlines that proclaim
How ruthlessly men strive to kill and maim;
And when my shrinking hand the swift dial plies
To miss the news wherein disaster lies . . .
Then sudden, like a warm and cheering flame,
A burst of music to my ears lays claim
And lifts my aching soul up to the skies.

For while the golden notes still throb and sing,
I ponder on the man who gave them birth;
No time had he for war and war's mad lust,
As from his ink-stained fingers there took wing
Such melody to clothe this sordid earth
In magic . . . tho he long is dust.

Tough.

Chicago park police have to know more things than you might expect before they are qualified to don the dark blue uniforms, puttees and silver stars of the park police force. They all are graduates of a first aid course, they must know a considerable amount of law, especially concerning the rights of assembly and free speech; they must know the city ordinances, the state traffic code, the rules on federal traffic regulations, and other matters, as well as how to bring in a prisoner and how to present evidence and the thousand and one details of a police officer's routine.

The other day one of a group that had been taking the promotional examination from sergeant to lieutenant happened to meet the chauffeur of Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board.

"Did you take the lieutenant's examination?" asked the chauffeur.

"Yes, and boy, was it tough!" answered the sergeant. "You couldn't tell whether the park district wanted a police lieutenant or a successor to Chief Justice Hughes."

Quiz Kids' Ambitions.

The Quiz Kids celebrated their first anniversary of broadcasting at a birthday party at the Stevens yesterday and arrived dressed as they see themselves 20 years from now.

Gerard Darrow, 8, came dressed as a professor of entomology and ornithology, in a silk hat and tails, wearing a goatee and horn-rimmed glasses, carrying a butterfly net and magnifying glasses. He looked even more pint-size than usual in the solemn black coat and long trousers.

Van Dyke Tiers, 14, as a noted chemist, wearing a medal awarded for the production of "heavy acid," the universal solvent, and the insoluble plastic in which it may be safely stored and transported.

Jack Lucal, 14, as the United States ambassador to China.

Claude Brenner, 12, as an aeronautical engineer, and he had with him blueprints for a superplane of his own design.

Joan Bishop, 14, as an opera singer, dressed in the costume of her favorite rôle, "Aïda."

Four others came as singers or musicians. Another, Richard Williams, wants to be a combustion engineer, and others want to be Pulitzer prize winners, a girl reporter, and a nurse. Nanni Kahn wants degrees in languages from all over the world, and came in a cap and gown, her chest covered with medals and awards.

Boy! Take this to the morgue and file. It might make an item for a columnist 20 years from now.

Editorial of the Day

NEWS POLL ON WAR.

[From the New York Daily News.]

Ever since the isolation vs. intervention dispute got hot, The News has been showered with requests that it conduct some kind of poll to find out what popular sentiment on this question really is.

We have now decided to honor these requests to the best of our ability. The poll is on as this editorial appears in print. It is a postcard poll, and it will cover the state of New York. It involves mailing out, with return postage, 650,000 postcard ballots, at a postage cost of 2 cents each, or $13,000 for postage alone. Costs of printing, addressing and mailing the cards, and of tallying them as they come back, will run the total bill up to something over $20,000.

That's a good sized piece of money—but the importance of this issue seems to us to justify spending it.

The ballots, now in the mails, require no signatures. They carry one question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?" with spaces for straight yes and no answers.

We have thus worded the question because that is the question at issue between the isolationists and the interventionists. The question is not whether we should go to war if South America or Canada were invaded, or whether Hitler's declaration of war on Russia makes it more or less advisable for us to get into the war, or any other question with some "if" in it.

New York, according to our middle western friends and critics, is the most interventionist of all the states, so that a true report of just how interventionist or otherwise New York is ought to be important as well as interesting.

We are taking every precaution we can think of to make this poll accurate, representative, and honest. We feel that a postcard sampling of 10 per cent of New York's 6,300,000 voters registered as of last November ought to show New York's true feelings about intervention vs. isolation. We are asking the two leading organizations interested on opposite sides of this national problem to have one checker apiece on hand at all times when the ballots are being counted. These two organizations are: For the isolationists, the America First committee; for the interventionists, the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Results will be published each day in The News until the count is completed. This poll is copyrighted, meaning The News has the exclusive right to publish the results.

SHUN INFECTED WOOD TICKS.

IN the early days of the west, trappers and explorers mentioned occasionally, in their diaries, a peculiar illness which sometimes proved fatal. It was not until 1909, however, that Howard Taylor Ricketts, working in the Bitter Root valley of Montana, found the germ and demonstrated that Rocky mountain spotted fever was spread by means of the wood tick.

For quite some years the disease was confined to the wooded regions of the northern Rockies, but today automobile transportation and the annual trek of visitors to this part of the country—ofttimes accompanied by the family pup—has scattered the condition far and wide. It has been reported from New York to Georgia. Unfortunately, numerous types of wild life can harbor infected "blood suckers." Squirrels, chipmunks, rabbits, grouse, and many other animals may become spreaders. It behooves us then, during the season when these insects abound, to be alert to their presence. The pests can invade the body and burrow beneath the skin.

Prevention lies in adequate clothing [high boots], and inspecting the cuticle after every hike thru brush to make sure that the "varmints" have not attached themselves. If discovered they may be removed cautiously—head and all—and the wound cauterized thoroly with a drop of pure carbolic acid, followed by alcohol.

The disease itself is far from a joke. Within four to eight days after a bite, the patient feels as tho he were developing a case of influenza. He complains of fatigue, headache, muscle and joint pains, and chilly sensations. There is usually a slight cough. By the second or third day there may be a hard chill with temperature rising to 104 degrees F. This state of affairs may persist for a week or two with but slight remission. But the most characteristic sign is the eruption which is observed about the third day. The wrists, ankles, back, face, arms, and chest are involved in about the order listed.

In certain seasons and localities the ailment may be more severe than in others. We must look upon it, however, as something to be shunned. Those who are obliged to spend considerable time in tick infested areas are advised to submit to vaccination with material prepared by Spencer and Parker of the United States public health service. The government laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., is a center for the protection campaign.

Treatment is good nursing plus adequate nutrition, and stimulation—when required. Plenty of fluid must be supplied and quieting drugs may be needed at times. The sufferer must not be allowed out of bed—in fact, no exertion whatsoever can be permitted. Rest is so important that the fewer drugs employed, the better. The new chemicals of the sulfanilamide group seem to have no effect.

Many physicians regard the affliction as the nearest thing we have today to typhoid of a generation ago. Then we had no specific neutralizing agent once the malady had taken hold. The same is true of tick fever, which must be fought with common sense remedies designed to meet symptoms as they arise.

But we should recall that the vaccine taken early [before infection] will provide a safeguard of real power.

SUSCEPTIBLE BOY.

Mrs. C. S. writes: My son, who is now 16 years old, has had measles and chickenpox three times. Is he likely to go thru life getting these diseases every time there is an epidemic?

REPLY.

Long before this he should have established an immunity. Each ailment is probably a virus infection to which he is extremely susceptible. A health building program is in order. With some attention to diet, exercise, good elimination, and plenty of rest, his resistance may be raised. Your physician should consider the use of convalescent serum as a safeguard.

ACID MOUTH.

L. B. writes: What can be done to counteract an acid condition of the mouth?

REPLY.

Use an alkaline mouth wash frequently. Be sure to brush your teeth after meals and particularly after taking sweets. Better still, omit candy, pastry, etc., for a time.

BATH AFTER EATING.

E. C. writes: Is it better to wait a while after eating to take a bath?

REPLY.

"When duty whispers low, thou must." Otherwise wait until the processes of digestion are well along—at least an hour after a meal.

DAMAGED SHIPS IN A PORT.

Somewhere in America, June 21.—The British ship that's at the navy yard here was hit by an Italian aerial torpedo. Sailors aboard have been drinking in bars all over this area for a week, talking freely.

The only public mention of their presence has been by one radio newscaster, but it's a hell of a good story going to waste. Naturally, with no explanation in the newspapers, the gossip rolls high and the back door chatter soon will have half the British fleet in the bay.

The most amazing sidelight is that the town adjoining the government navy yard was purified by vice squad raiders the night before the ship arrived. Now the limeys and the gobs, who've never had any love for each other, are virtually ready to cut throats in vying for attention of the few harlots remaining on duty.

J. B.

SMALL MERCHANT'S SIDE OF IT.

Chicago, June 26.—The writers of the two letters in today's Voice of the People have the impression that merchants make a profit on the sales tax. That certainly isn't true in my case. I have a neighborhood drug store and carry besides a stock of school supplies. Many of my sales are below 15 cents, on which I collect no tax. But the tax is on total receipts. The result is that I have to pay about ½ more to the state than I get from my customers. I have talked with the other storekeepers in the neighborhood and every one is out of pocket on the tax. State street and your big clothing and furniture stores whose sales are all in substantial amounts get it all back from their customers. But the little fellow who is denounced in your letters today actually pays thru the nose. The sales on which he overcollects do not make up for the sales for which he undercollects. The cut from 3 per cent to 2 per cent is going to reduce by ⅓ my loss from the tax if I keep the same limits as now. Whatever Gov. Green says I'm not going to take a bigger loss to make him out to be a good fellow.

MERCHANT.

A WPA MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, June 23.—Here is one for the books. I work as a timekeeper on WPA, earning $89.70 a month, or 120 hours' work. Recently I was told by the WPA district office that they had found a job for me to better myself.

They sent me to a well known detective agency. When I arrived at this agency the superintendent asked me if I wanted work. I replied that I did. So he told me I was hired. I asked him how many hours a week and the salary I was to get. Here is what he offered me: Six nights a week, 10 hours per night, $21 a week. Here is the difference: 120 hours a month on WPA for $89.70, and 240 hours a month for that detective job at $84 a month. I am a young married man of 27. Did I take the job? No.

Offer us WPA fellows a decent living wage and we'll prove we're worth it.

USO AND CO-OPERATION.

Chicago, June 24.—The United Service organization offers a unique opportunity for Americans of all races and creeds to coöperate. Our boys—Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish—are living together in camps. Ministers, priests, and rabbis are serving as chaplains and coöperating in many ways. So let us who stay at home see to it that the USO is amply supported.

THE DANDY FIRST.

Evanston, Ill., June 26.—Apropos of June Provines' "Good-by, First Infantry Armory":

The writer may add a bit of historic background of the "Dandy First" and its armory at 16th and Michigan avenue.

The Illinois National Guard was organized in this state in 1877. In addition to the commanding officers there were mentioned others who did their building for the organization, among them Col. Edgar D. Swain, Col. Knox, and Col. Charles R. E. Koch.

Henry L. Turner was lieutenant colonel and J. B. Sanborn a captain, valued officers under Col. Koch, who was in command of the regiment from 1889. At this time more adequate quarters were necessary. It was due largely to Col. Koch's efforts and thru the generosity of Chicagoans of the late '80s and the early '90s that the armory was built: a structure of outstanding character for that period. This epoch marked the christening of the regiment as the "Dandy First."

Shortly after the new armory was occupied a fire destroyed it, a tragedy and sorrow to those who had given so much to its creation. The facsimile was at once rebuilt on this foundation.

Col. Koch retired in 1893 and the new régime had the names on the original cornerstone changed with the rebuilding. In the razing of this structure the history of the regiment will be unearthed.

Salve—and a "salvo"—to the Dandy First, now the 131st. May its men ever carry forward the spirit of the loyal men who organized and served so well their state and their country. Again, "Good-by, First Infantry Armory." TAPS.

COMRADES IN THE FOLD.

Chicago, June 26.—Since Great Britain and our government have decreed to accept the soviet republic as a full fledged member of the world's democracies, I'm sure proper arrangements have been made to undo the wrong done to our fellow traveler, Earl Browder, and that he will be vindicated thru appointment to the inner cabinet circle.

His great knowledge of the truly democratic institutions of the U. S. S. R. would be of incalculable value in promoting harmony and understanding among the members of this great alliance.

Another much maligned fellow traveler, Comrade William Z. Foster, having had exceptional experience in soviet naval affairs, would be of immeasurable help as assistant to our great seafaring secretary, providing a combination of the two greatest authorities on naval affairs of all times.

B. E. FUDDLED.

FINDS THE NOISIEST SPOT.

Chicago, June 25.—Now that the survey to determine the cause of the worst noises in the city is complete, may I nominate the vicinity that suffers them all, 24 hours a day?

Yes, my neighbors, you have guessed right. Sixty-third and Blackstone. Street cars with flat wheels which stop with screeching brakes, elevated trains doing the same, speeding buses, cars with blaring horns, people talking in loud voices, never a night without a drunken brawl of some sort—must I go on? And why don't I move? I certainly shall the day my lease is up—if I am not in the bughouse by then.

I WANT QUIET.

INSPIRED BY THE FLAG.

Dubuque, Ia., June 27.—About a year ago the picture of the American flag flying from Tribune Tower was given the place of honor in our English classroom. No other picture has inspired more tributes than this. The following words written voluntarily by a student are typical of the fact that patriotism is worth cultivating:

"Today, in college, I have been greatly inspired by the beautiful picture of our flag on the wall directly before my eyes. In this picture the clear blue sky and the fleecy white clouds seem to tell us that there is peace o'er all the land. Yet, I believe it is the flag placed in the foreground that tells us all is well. Let us stop to realize how wonderful it is to be an American, living in a land that is ours alone, under a flag of our own, and let us pledge silent allegiance to it that this Star Spangled Banner may forever wave high in the land of the free and the home of the brave."

We hear too many cynical remarks about youth. If in our schools we place the ideal before young men and women we shall find that they will respond to it as readily as any generation of the past.

HERMANN S. FICKE,

SPARROWS VS. SNAKES.

Chicago, June 26.—The letter from F. Rogers regarding the feeding of sparrows and pigeons to a loathsome reptile should be brought to the attention of the Anti-Cruelty society. I am a lover of birds, even the little brown sparrow who fights for its young. As a taxpayer I object to any of my money being used for the upkeep of hideous, loathsome reptiles. Kill them and feed them to the lions and tigers.

C. HANSON.

Lake Zurich, Ill., June 25.—I wish they would feed all the sparrows in the country to the snakes. They are the most destructive birds; they have no consideration for any songbird. I have watched and fought them for years to leave my bluebirds alone. They gang up on any songbird that has built its nest and drive it out.

PURCHASE DEPOSIT.

Chicago, June 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some time ago I gave a car dealer a deposit of [1] $25 to hold a car for me until I went back to Ohio to get the money to pay for same. On my return to Chicago I had to forfeit my bid for the car. The car was too long for my garage. The company refused to return my money. They even refused to give me merchandise for the $25 or even give back a part of the $25.

2. Can I collect this money? Is it legal for him to keep this money?

3. The car was too large and he didn't have any other car I was interested in.

A. E.

1. As we understand it the purpose of your deposit was to protect him against loss due to your changing your mind. If you can satisfy a court that your deposit exceeds his loss then you would be entitled to recover the difference.

2. See 1.

3. You should have satisfied yourself on this point before making a deposit.

Debut Parties Fill Calendar for Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

SEVEN league boots would come in handy for the hundreds who want to attend one or more of the several debuts or weddings on the calendar today and tomorrow. The first Saturday of the racing season at Arlington Park will prove irresistible to others, and the opening of the Ravinia Festival season will draw music lovers from far and near to Ravinia park tonight. A children's concert will be given there tomorrow afternoon.

The annual flower show of the Lake Forest Garden club will attract throngs to the new gymnasium of the Lake Forest Country Day school today and tomorrow, too. The uniforms of 50 soldiers and 50 sailors who have been invited to the show will add a patriotic touch to the event. Rain or shine, the show is destined to be a success, for it will be an indoor-outdoor affair, with a garden walk arranged thru several estates adjoining the gymnasium at 145 South Green Bay road.

Gardening for Defense Is Theme of Show.

Gardening for defense is the theme of the show, and vegetables will share in prizes with flowers. A model kitchen will revolve on the stage in the gym, and proper methods for canning vegetables will be shown. There will be also a small vegetable garden, large enough to supply a family of five, but small enough to be cared for by one man.

Luncheon and tea will be served on the terrace of the school. The estates to be opened for the garden walk are those of the William Roy Carneys, the junior John Colemans, Edward I. Cudahy, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, the Laurance Armours, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews King, and of Mrs. Charles S. De Long.

Ticket booths will be found at Mrs. Hasler's, Mrs. Carney's, and at the school. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children. There will be an herb booth, free lectures on flower arrangement by Mrs. Mahlon Bradley, a flower market, and a display of porch and terrace furniture, among other features. The Red Cross will receive a donation out of the proceeds.

Post and Paddock Club Scene of Many Luncheons.

The Warren Wrights will have a special interest in the running of the Matron Stakes at Arlington this afternoon, for they have a horse entered, Proud One. The Wrights, the junior Philip D. Armours, the Silas Strawns, the junior Robert J. Dunhams, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. Robert Lay, the Carl Leighs, Charles H. Schweppe, the William S. Stanleys and the John O. Stolls are among those who are entertaining at luncheon at the Post and Paddock club.

Many who will be in Ravinia park tonight will have met Dr. Frederick Stock, who will be conducting, and Sir Thomas Beecham, who will be guest conductor for two weeks starting on Tuesday, at a garden party the English-Speaking union is giving this afternoon in the Barrington home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hecht. Mr. Hecht is president of the union.

The first of Miss Bessie Cowles' two debut parties is a tea from 5 to 7 o'clock today in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knight C. Cowles of Lake Forest. The Cowleses will give another party, an outdoor dinner-dance, on July 12 for their younger daughter.

Mrs. Francis Drexel Smith is here from Colorado Springs, Colo., for the debut of her granddaughter, who was just graduated from Miss Walker's school. Assisting the debutante today are Miss Ann Carpenter, Miss Shirley Hopkins, Miss Leonore Cudahy, Miss Diana Hill, Miss Joan Peabody, Miss Caryl Casselberry, Miss Eleanor Cochran, Miss Barbara Bronson, Miss Annie Laurie Ryerson, Miss Harriet Sturgis, Miss Patricia Cathcart, and Miss Frances Clow.

Miss Dudley Winston Making Debut Tonight.

Lights will twinkle in the trees of Fairlawn, Mrs. Robert G. McGann's Lake Forest home, for the debut tonight of Mrs. McGann's granddaughter, Miss Dudley Winston, daughter of the Farwell Winstons, also of Lake Forest. There will be several dinner parties before the dance, but Miss Winston and her debutante contemporaries will dine on the terrace at Fairlawn.

Miss Grace Shumway, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas and the Clarence C. Prentices are among those giving dinner parties. They and their guests and Mrs. McGann's other older guests will arrive at the party in time for dancing, which will start at 11 o'clock on an outdoor pavilion, weather permitting. Miss Winston's sister, Mrs. Carleton Ellis [Anne Winston], has come from Toledo for the party. Also here is Miss Jean McCall of Providence, R. I., a classmate of the bud at the Spence school.

The countryside surrounding Hall Weston, the Dundee farm of the Edgerton A. Throckmortons, will provide a refreshing background for the garden party Mr. and Mrs. Throckmorton will give tomorrow to introduce the latter's daughter, Miss Caryl Casselberry. Between 4 and 7 o'clock the debutante will receive with her mother, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Richardson Dunham. Also sharing in the festivities will be Miss Casselberry's paternal grandmother, Mrs. William E. Casselberry, and her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Phelps Richardson.

Miss Bessie Cowles, Miss Ann Carpenter, Miss Barbara Bronson, Miss Joan Peabody, Miss Frances Clow, Miss Lana Jelke [who was at the Greenwood school in Ruxton, Md., with the debutante], Miss Eleanor Cochran, and Miss Diana Hill have

Newlyweds Are Caught by Candid Camera

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fetridge, the former Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark, snapped by the candid camera as they were rushing to depart for a trip east immediately after the small wedding ceremony yesterday afternoon at Rainbow Farm, Barrington, home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Clark.

White Pique Is Cooling Unit for Dark Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

White crisp piqué as cool as mountain snow provides an incomparable cooling system for hot weather clothes in dark colors. White piqué in narrow band-bows accents deep vee necklines. Two perched on the shoulder of suit or dress look like a pair of moon white butterflies stopped in flight, and the same sort of bows added to hats, small or large, make all the difference between sticky looking dark costumes and smart summer blacks, navy blues or browns.

The newest mitts in town are the clever wrap-arounds made of dazzling white piqué edged with a double fluting of fine white net. There are no fingers in these gloves. They wrap around the wrists with a point of the piqué well up the back of the hand. A bow ties the entire creation securely and decoratively round the wrist. You'll wear such frivolous make-believe gloves with your summer formals of crisp cotton and muslins.

Another new arrival is the summer evening cape of white piqué, almost waist length, cut in a circle. A neat little bow keeps it in place at the throat. The decorative accent is the diamond shape quilted pattern, that adds little or nothing to the weight of the cape but makes it demurely old-fashioned, ideal to wear with all summer garden or dancing dresses.

Extremely smart small hats of white piqué cling lightly to any coiffure. The new models are of the visor type with a small crown and a slanting sharply tied bow of the piqué in front. Another visor brim is larger and minus the bow brim.

Tiny pill boxes of piqué are plentiful in the millinery collections and can be accented with colored veils or cooled with white veils.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Woman's much touted refining influence on man should certainly be put to work on at least one phase of masculine grooming, and that's the use of a deodorant. Too many of those blokes just ignore the fact that they perspire—and heavily—and it looks to us as tho it's up to the women to call them on it. To do some missionary work too, such as seeing that the deodorant is right at their fingertips when they dress.

There are any number of men who wouldn't dream of shopping for a deodorant themselves. Wouldn't even dream of using one, as a matter of fact, because they just never thought of it. We're dead certain that a few feminine machinations could bring about a decided change in this sad state of things.

First of all, the man who doesn't care about fussing will want a preparation that's easy to use. We know just the thing for him—a liquid that dries quickly and that can, if he's the absent minded type, be used right thru clothing.

This is one of the best deodorants that's come along in recent years. It isn't expensive, and it's wonderfully efficient. It has no decided fragrance of its own—another thing that will recommend it to men—but it neutralizes all body odor, without stopping perspiration.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., June 27.—The Warners haven't got the man who came to dinner yet, but they have his secretary. Bette Davis will play the rôle. And Miss Davis doubtless will have a lot to say about who's to play the title part. . . . Production of "They Died with Their Boots On," which will have Errol Flynn as Custer, has been postponed for a week—and maybe longer. Report is that Olivia de Havilland is kicking up; that she no like Flynn and doesn't want to be in the picture with him. . . . Albert Basserman and Eric Blore land rôles in "The Shanghai Gesture," which starts shooting Aug. 11 under Joe Von Sternberg. Victor Mature is the only lead set. . . . James Stephenson has bought 1,000 acres in Kern county, will raise cotton. . . . On the "New Orleans Blues" set nobody can pronounce Elia Kazan's first name, so they call him Gadget. . . . Manuel del Campo, Mary Astor's husband, will be inducted into the Canadian air force any day now. . . . Add fine names: A 3 month old child working in "One Foot in Heaven" is named Cathy Lips. . . . Marc Blitzstein, here to raise money for the New York production of his "No for an Answer," played, sang, and talked his show for three hours the other night at a party. Afterward somebody made a pep talk urging Hollywoodians to get in on a good thing—but the fund collecting died aborning when a noted director upped and said he didn't think a party was the place to put the tap on people and that he, for one, would like a day to think it over. . . . Walter Huston got a note yesterday from a friend suffering from a hangover. "I have discovered," wrote the invalid, "that nine zombies is seven too many."

There was appropriate confusion yesterday when Olsen and Johnson reported at Universal for the film version of "Hellzapoppin." The set was a madhouse of stuffed storks, a mummy, dress dummies, bird cages, and kitchen sinks. On an unneeded part of the stage was a pile of gifts from other actors—a boar's head from Bill Fields, a washtub from Bob Hope, a live pig from somebody, and so on. Mischa Auer, the mayor of Universal City, wheeled about on a bike with a siren screaming. Ole and Chic gabbed with everybody, told endless stories, waited for the right moment to throw a pie at Director Hank Potter.

The only businesslike and thoughtful person there was Potter. He went soberly about preparing the setting for the first scene, looking worried. "This," he told me, "is going to be a tough one. A screwball picture is the hardest kind to make, and this one is going to be the topper. We're going to break all the known rules of movie making and I hope it comes out all right."

Ole and Chic were still laying for Potter with the pie. He should, they felt, get one in the face just to put him in their kind of mood. But Hank, who looks studious and gentle and slightly forbidding, finally heard about the plot against him and ordered the comedians to drop it.

Hot Weather Spurs Calls on Free Ice Fund

With continued high temperatures predicted for the week-end, calls for ice tickets poured into the United Charities office yesterday. Many requests came from mothers who want to take advantage of the Saturday bargains in food, but don't dare stock up without ice to keep the food fresh.

In other cases doctors have ordered extra milk for undernourished children, but the families have no way to keep it cool.

Eddy-McNair Wedding Takes Place Tonight

A surprise wedding on today's calendar is that of Ensign Morris Eddy and Miss Barbara Dixon McNair, which will take place tonight in Cloquet, Minn., just as it had been planned for last Saturday, except for the wedding attendants. Last Saturday's ceremony was canceled because of Ensign Eddy's duties in the navy. Suddenly he was given 10 days' leave, so the bridegroom called his mother, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, an hour after she arrived at her summer home in Wianno, on Cape Cod, on Thursday, and she flew to Chicago yesterday. With Mr. Wheeler and her father, Lansing B. Warner, and Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Wheeler departed for Cloquet last night.

The wedding will take place at 8:30 o'clock in the little Episcopal church with a reception following in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving McNair Jr. Ensign Eddy and his bride will spend his leave on Cape Cod.

One of the many weddings planned for today has taken a number of Chicagoans to Garrison, Md., where Miss Elisabeth Iglehart, daughter of the Francis Igleharts of Baltimore, Md., will become the bride of Edward McCormick Blair, son of the W. McCormick Blairs of Chicago and Lake Forest. Mr. Blair is a grandson of Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen. His cousin, Deering McCormick, will be best man, and the bridegroom's two brothers, Bowen and William Blair Jr., will be among the ushers. A reception will be held at the Igleharts' summer home in Stevenson, Md.

The green and white game room of the Richard Bentley home in Lake Forest, which the George W. Blossoms have leased for the summer, will be the scene this afternoon of Miss Barbara Blossom's marriage to G. Greeley Wells.

The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Herbert E. Prince officiating. Miss Nancy Wells, the bridegroom's sister, will be maid of honor. Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr., Miss Peggy Burrows, Miss Caryl Harrison, and Miss Mary Faith Wilson will be bridesmaids.

Mr. Wells and his bride will take a brief week-end trip and then will leave by Clipper ship early next month for Bermuda. They will reside in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., while he completes his studies at Bard college.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ellsworth Faris, and Dr. Faris will give a luncheon today for the bridal party and out of town guests, who include Mr. and Mrs. William S. Bacon [Katherine Blossom] and their daughter, Bobby.

Miss Patricia Wilson and John Harsen Rhoades III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Rhoades of Sharon, Conn., will be married at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, with a reception following at the Onwentsia club, given by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson of Chicago and Lake Bluff.

Attending the bride will be Miss Priscilla Curtis as maid of honor, Mrs. Carol Rhoades Robinson of Westbury, N. Y., and Mrs. Stephen Reynolds Jr. of New York, sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Kate Barkhausen, Miss Veva Pennick Miller of New Orleans, and Miss Phyllis Peter. George Rhoades will be his brother's best man.

Miss Elinor Talbot, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Talbot, and John Hamilton Rice will be married this afternoon in St. Chrysostom's church, the Rev. Dudley S. Stark officiating, with a reception following in the Talbot home in East Division street.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rice, are here from Pittsfield, Mass., for the wedding, along with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bowen of New Rochelle, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Owen of Eau Claire, Wis.

Miss Talbot's attendants include her sister, Mrs. Thomas Cochran; Mrs. Mathew Rockwell, Miss Marjorie Lindsay, Miss Miriam Dodge, and Miss Marjorie Sanborn. Howard Russell of Philadelphia will be best man.

A rose point lace bertha which was part of her mother's bridal costume in 1910 adds a touch of sentiment to the wedding gown Miss Jane Gregg Cummings, daughter of Mrs. John J. Cummings, will wear for her marriage to J. Thomas Taussig at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Holy Name cathedral. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Dennison, who baptized the bride, will officiate, and a reception will follow at the Saddle and Cycle club.

Mr. Taussig will take his bride on a motor trip thru Canada to Cambridge, Mass., where he will take summer courses at Harvard university.

Miss Peggy Bear, daughter of Mrs. Robert G. Bear of Evanston, and Livingston Gifford Gardner will be married at 4:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, Evanston, with a re-

Good Morning!

Bob Hope is such a universal favorite and Dorothy Lamour has so many admirers that I feel this picture, co-featuring the two, will meet with pretty general fan approval.

It's a light and wacky farce comedy, detailing the adventures of a great-movie-lover-allergic-to-noise who is caught in the draft and forced to enter training camp. With him go his Man Friday [Eddie Bracken] and his manager [Lynne Overman]. How the last got in—you wonder—for Lynne's a lamb—but no chicken. . . . Anyhow thahtheybe, all set to act as buffers for Don Gilbert even as they have done before Uncle Sam decided to make a soldier of him.

Dorothy is the commander's daughter. . . . And now I'm sure YOU'RE sure of the sort of thing to expect.

Don Gilbert is in and out of all sorts of frying pans. . . . But I admire to tell you that before the final curtain falls, he distinguishes himself by conspicuous bravery and wins a medal and the maid.

It's all in fun, of course, with the folks out to entertain you and do nothing but that. . . . They really show you a good time for your money.

See you tomorrow.

The debutante's assistants and their beaux have been invited to stay for supper on the lawn of the Knoll, as the Finney place is called, and for sailing and swimming later.

Slow down and relax a bit today, particularly in the spending of money or health assets. And don't rush into shifts of policy in the evening lest many steps require retracing. Background influences favor thinking for the long run.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today's anniversary brings gain thru seclusion, quiet effort to better goals, own character. Work thru past. July-January care of haste, friction in occupation. Danger: July 4-14; Nov. 1-10; April 22-May 7.

Think things over; be sociable, but avoid worry over pocketbook items.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

FINANCIAL WORRIES.

Slowly, Celia began to dress, but in any case she couldn't have made headway at an appreciable rate. Things kept slipping thru her fingers, which were strangely numb, and every bit of her seemed afflicted with a sort of ague. Obviously she had a bad case of the jitters.

Why should she care? What was Valentine Quentin to her now? Less than the dust. Nevertheless, the past was sticking its claws into her as she hadn't believed was possible. She couldn't make an honest move because of her past.

The grapes in a case like hers are adjudged to be sour, and hell knows no fury that can match up to a scorned woman. Val would have it all pat on his tongue, and heaven knows it would sound plausible enough.

Half an hour passed and still Celia wasn't ready, and nothing further happened.

Every moment she expected Felicity either in a fury at her delay, or covertly expressing compassion. Perhaps it was stupid to have given Val a clear field.

Celia reluctantly settled her hat.

Forty-five minutes, now.

Perhaps they had gone without her, in which case it looked as tho Felicity had broken a promise to her father, altho she had only intimated that it was a promise.

There didn't seem to be any sense in stringing this thing out any longer. Celia was a little calmer now, and descended the wide staircase feeling like a character who has mistakenly strolled into the wrong play. The gardener who looked after the pot plants in Leighton House had dressed up the stairs that morning as tho in celebration of a wedding. Madonna lilies followed the curve of the bronze balustrade which was twined with smilax. The place was deserted. It might have been the palace of the Sleeping Beauty. Probably the servants were having their dinner.

Celia gave warning with a cough before she entered the living room, altho she half expected to find it deserted.

But Felicity was there alone. She hadn't heard the cough, and she didn't hear Celia come in. She was sitting cross-legged on the bearskin hearthrug, minus her hat and coat, which had been thrown carelessly onto the couch. Her tumbled hair told a story, and she was now very busy with her vanity case, repairing damages.

Celia began to get the jitters all over again. What had happened—where was Val?

"I'm sorry I took such a long time," she said, trying not to feel an abject hypocrite.

Felicity gave a slight start, as tho shaken out of a dream.

"Why—you haven't been very long," she said vaguely. "Val went a minute or two ago. You don't mind, do you, darling, if we don't go out to lunch after all?"

Celia thought that maybe it was she who had been dreaming.

"Why, no—no, I don't mind a bit," she replied.

"In fact, I forgot all about lunch," said Felicity, "and I'm not in the least hungry. We—it was Val's idea really—we thought we'd be economical and save the money. You never can tell when you're going to need a whole lot of money. I get my allowance on the 1st, and that's a week off yet. A long time to wait, isn't it? I wish you'd let me buy you some lovely new clothes, Celia. I do need that tenner."

Celia was puzzled for more reasons than one and her face mirrored her bewilderment.

Felicity scrambled to her feet, ran a little comb over her disordered hair and smiled enchantingly.

"You see, I only get 15 pounds a month pocket money, but I can run up all the dress bills I want now, instead of credit."

"What do you need so much money for in a hurry?" Celia asked unsteadily. "To—to lend to Val?"

Felicity managed to look shocked and secretive at the same time.

"As tho Val would borrow of a woman!" she exclaimed evasively.

"You don't seem to know him as well as you think you do, darling."

"Obviously I don't," Celia said.

"There—you've got that funny look in your eyes again, and your mouth is almost sneering. Val says he knows you hate him, Celia. It makes him feel awful—and it hurts me, too."

"You haven't said why you need that money so badly," Celia reminded her.

"I can't help calling you 'Miss Ames' when you speak like that! You're exactly like little Sister Victoria at the convent. Do you remember how she would poke and pry until we unbosomed our secrets in spite of ourselves? Really, Celia you ought to have been a governess."

"O, it's a secret?" said Celia, trying to speak lightly. She couldn't afford to be offended with Felicity.

"Yes, I promised Val I wouldn't breathe a word of it—and most particularly not to you. He says you'd run straight to Daddy if I told you. I nearly died laughing when he tried to warn me that you'd probably get your hooks into Daddy. As tho Martin Stanmore couldn't look out for himself!"

A dull, shamed flush crept up Celia's face; even her throat was suffused with it.

Tears smarted her eyes and she couldn't speak even if she had thought of anything to say.

Remorseful, Felicity flew to comfort her.

"Darling, I could bite my tongue out. I'm not really a spiteful cat, altho you may think so. I wouldn't mind a bit if you did get your hooks into him. Auntie May's been trying for years, and you've no idea how clever he is at dodging her. Gosh, it would be a joke on her! And on him, too. He's always putting up the front that he's a 'bachelor by nature.'"

But for all the embarrassment Felicity was causing Celia she had not succeeded in sidetracking her.

Celia Ames had been born with the gift of second sight. Moreover, she had the questionable advantage of knowing Valentine Quentin very intimately. She could see exactly how his mind had worked this morning, and lovesick Felicity had been putty in his hands.

"I think I know why you need a lot of money so suddenly," she said. "You and Val. He's persuaded you to elope with him."

Felicity looked as surprised as a 3 year old when the conjurer brings a rabbit out of the hat.

"Good gosh—however did you guess that!" she cried.

Felicity's consternation lasted no more than a second and she made an amazing recovery.

"That's the funniest thing I ever heard in all my life. Really, Val will laugh himself sick when I tell him. Why Celia, you know—or ought to know—that a person under 21 can't get married without a parent's or guardian's consent. And you don't think I'd run away with Val if I couldn't marry him, do you? Even tho I love him so desperately. O, no, I'm not that kind of a girl."

For a moment she had Celia fooled. But there was a queer, anxious glint in her eye that betrayed her.

"And please, Celia, darling, don't put your unworthy suspicions before Daddy. If you did, he'd lock me up on bread and water—just as a matter of principle."

Celia avoided looking at her. Felicity was dead in earnest and on the verge of being badly frightened. It wouldn't take very much for her to turn on the friend who already had tried her rather sorely. The poison Val had injected was beginning to work. Well, Celia must work, too, and work fast.

"Listen dear—when your father invited me to come here, I asked him plainly if he expected me to tell tales on you, and he said, 'God forbid.' I shouldn't have come if he wanted me to spy."

Felicity drew in a quivering breath.

"That's what I told Val. I said, 'We can trust Celia, even tho she has got a down on you.' He didn't seem to think so, but I told him I knew you better than he did. It was decent of Daddy—but, of course, Martin Stanmore is the most decent creature alive. I have more respect for him than you might imagine. The trouble is, he doesn't know the least thing about love—what it means—how it's your very heart's blood. And I don't believe you do, either, however fond you once were of Val. Not the sort of love Val and I have for each other."

Maté [pronounced mah-tay], that popular South American hollyleaf drink which resembles green tea, is becoming the fashionable thing to sip at lunch or with midafternoon refreshment.

There's nothing new about maté—it was brewed by aborigines in Paraguay long before Columbus discovered America. The Indians prepared it by pouring boiling water over pulverized hollyleaves in a hollow gourd. The gourd was passed from Injun to Injun like a peace pipe, and each took a sip.

Maté helada is Latin American "iced tea." I suspect North American influence behind the cold version of this ancient comforting beverage. But it's good, too.

Fruit nut bread is the latest of a group of canned nut breads which hostesses like especially well for tea party service. This sweet bread with its brothers, date nut, prune nut, and chocolate nut, makes dainty and delightful teatime sandwiches. Butter or cream cheese is the spread to use. Almost anything else will have too much flavor. Strong flavored fillings should be saved for plain bread sandwiches. Peanut butter, jellies and jams, watercress and cheese spreads may be considered "strong flavors" in this sense, as well as the innumerable smoked fish pastes and other really sharp flavors.

I continue to be amazed at the interest among readers in the subject of calories. Our new booklet, "The Calories You Eat" was compiled as a result of the interest shown in a recent series of articles. It lists the calories to be counted for beverages, candies, desserts, meats, vegetables, soups, breads, and other foods. Seven cents in stamps, by mail.

Another of our booklets which is particularly seasonable right now is "Cool Meals for Warm Days," including menus and recipes. Price, 5 cents in stamps, by mail.

Facsimiles of Irish Antiquities Given to U. of Chicago

A collection of facsimiles of Irish antiquities was presented to the University of Chicago yesterday by the Field Museum of Natural History. The presentation was made by Stanley Field, president of the museum's board of trustees. Dr. Ulrich A. Middeldorf received the gift on behalf of the university.

The gold embossed reproductions include the Ardagh Chalice, the Crozier of Cormac MacCarthy, the Shrine of St. Patrick's Tooth, the Tara Brooch, reliquaries, caskets, crosses, bells, ancient harps, and other objects, the originals of which date back beyond the 12th century. They will be made available to scholars of Irish history.

The collection was sent to Chicago from Dublin for the Columbian exposition. Afterward the late Marshall Field procured the objects permanently for Chicago. The trend of the Field museum toward concentration in natural sciences was reflected in the gift of the antiquities to the university, it was explained.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

There is little sense and less profit in looking for tricks where it is perfectly obvious they cannot exist. Countless defenders hammer away at a certain suit when ordinary eyesight should advise them that they are working on barren soil. The hand below, which occurred in an important tournament, is a case in point.

North, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's bidding requires explaining. His two club response was, of course, normal. When his partner could merely rebid the diamonds, South risked bidding his short heart suit in order to "build the hand up" for a possible no trump contract. North refused to take the hint, however, and South, tho realizing that he was being highly aggressive, jumped all the way to game in clubs.

West opened the spade queen. Dummy won and led a low club. Declarer captured East's king and led a low diamond toward dummy. West jumped up with the ace and returned another spade, thereby qualifying for a prize for persistency, if nothing else. Dummy's diamond king was cashed, and a third round ruffed with the club ten.

At this point West was helpless. As it happened, he chose to discard a spade. Declarer then led a low club toward the 9-7. West went up with the jack and attempted to kill dummy's entry by leading another spade. But declarer ruffed this in his own hand and then entered dummy with the club nine to discard his two losing hearts on the long diamonds.

West had thrown away all his chances at the point where he had taken his diamond ace. He should have seen the extreme danger that dummy's diamond suit would be established, hence should have shifted to a low heart despite the fact that declarer had bid that suit. Obviously, this shift would have established a heart trick for the defenders, and the contract would have been defeated.

Tomorrow Is Sally's Guests' Good News Day

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Just one more day to wait for the good news, boys and girls!

I know that all the youngsters who wrote to me for invitations to see "The Reluctant Dragon" at the Palace theater have been waiting anxiously to see if they are to be my guests on July 3.

Well, THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE will tell the tale, because the names of 50 boys and 50 girls who wrote the most enthusiastic letters about our party will be printed in my column tomorrow.

The youngsters who are winners can be pretty pleased with themselves, because there were many, many good letters, and those who didn't make the grade this week will certainly want to try again when they see the plans for our next party.

Unfortunately, some of you boys and girls forced me to discard your letters because you didn't observe those few little rules I mentioned to you.

Some of you wrote very good letters, but forgot to tell me your names or give your complete addresses.

How can I send an invitation if you don't tell me where you live? Some of you sent in your letters after the closing date, after all the winners were selected, so those letters had to be eliminated. However, we have a whole summer of parties ahead of us, and when you see the news about our next one I know you'll want to be included in it—so don't miss your SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

TWIN CITIES UNION CHIEFS FACE U. S. RADICAL CHARGES

FBI Seizure of Evidence Climaxes Long Quiz.

Washington, D. C., June 27 [Special].—Acting Attorney General Francis Biddle announced today that he will charge members of the Socialist Workers' party of St. Paul and certain Minneapolis labor union leaders with seditious conspiracy and advocacy of the overthrow of the government by force and violence. Evidence to support the charges will be presented to a federal grand jury in St. Paul Tuesday, he said.

Without naming individuals, Biddle said the persons against whom the prosecution is aimed are members of the party and at the same time leaders of the general truck drivers' union of Minneapolis. This union has a bloody and violent history in Minneapolis, where it was long known as local 544 of the General Drivers', Helpers', and Inside Workers' union.

Records Seized in Raids.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in the Twin Cities raided both the party and union headquarters today, seizing records, propaganda, and other material, Biddle said. The agents, armed with search warrants issued in St. Paul, thus culminated more than a year's investigation of the radical activities of the party members and union leaders.

"The prosecution," Biddle said, "is not in any sense an attack on organized labor, nor is it an effort to interfere in a dispute between labor organizations. It presents only the determination of the department of justice to prosecute criminal subversive activity wherever it may occur."

Leaders of the truck drivers' union in Minneapolis for more than a decade have been Dunne brothers—Myles, the president; Vincent, and Grant. All three are known to be communists, and under their leadership the union has engaged in some of the nation's most sanguinary strikes in recent years.

1934 Martial Law Recalled.

Shootings, murders, threats, and intimidations have been common within the union itself. In 1934 the Dunnes led the prolonged truck strike that brought martial law to Minneapolis before open street fighting could be stopped. Two years ago William S. Brown, then president of the union, was shot to death by one of the union's own organizers, and he was later acquitted when the Dunnes paid for his defense.

The justice department said the Socialist Workers' party is composed of "the followers of Leon Trotsky."

The latest threat to the union is only one phase of a series of court actions in which local 544 has been involved. For months a minority group has been attempting to air in court the internal affairs of the unit in a suit demanding an accounting of funds and ouster of the Dunne brothers. This suit still is pending.

In the last year Daniel Tobin, international president of the AFL Truckers' union, has been investigating local 544. His interest was in determining whether communists have used the union to further their ends.

The AFL, however, was checkmated when last June 10 the Dunnes had the membership of the local vote to withdraw from the international union and affiliate with the CIO.

EVANS GETS LIFE FOR KILLING SON, MOTHER-IN-LAW

William M. Evans, 25 years old, was sentenced to life in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Julius H. Miner for the murder of his mother-in-law and his infant son, Douglas, 2 years old. He received an additional sentence of from 1 to 14 years in prison for slashing his wife, Nedra, a former model.

William M. Evans listening to sentence.

Separate life sentences were imposed for each killing and all sentences are to run concurrently. Under Illinois law, it was explained, Evans will not be able to ask for parole until after he has served 20 years.

Judge Miner said his decision was intended to keep Evans in prison as long as he lives "that he may never again take, menace, or interfere with the lives and well being of others."

Evans had pleaded guilty to the fatal stabbing of his son and his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Sanders, in whose home at 3209 Grove avenue, Berwyn, the attacks took place last March 22. He was alleged to have made numerous threats to kill his wife and baby unless she dropped divorce proceedings against him.

Threatens Tieup

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Michael J. Quill, international president of the CIO Transport Workers' union, addressing New York subway employes who voted strike threat.

CLOSED SHOP OR STRIKE, SUBWAY MEN VOTE IN N. Y.

Service Will Continue, Mayor Asserts.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 27.—Threats of a strike on New York's city-owned subway system—affecting 4 million daily riders—grew more ominous today when groups of transit employés voted to walk out on Monday night unless a new contract binding the city to a closed shop was agreed upon.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia vowed the tube system would continue to run, declaring the city could no more permit the shutdown of the subways than it could allow a stoppage in the city's water supply. Police are preparing emergency measures to keep the subways in operation.

Contracts between the CIO Transport Workers' union, headed by the radical labor boss, Michael J. Quill, and the IRT and BMT Subway Lines, expire on Monday night. The two lines were purchased by the city a year ago and merged into the city system.

Denies Right to Strike.

Denying the employés had any right to strike against the city, Mayor La Guardia has taken the position that the city is not bound to negotiate for a new collective bargaining agreement because the subway workers are now in the category of civil servants.

Involved in the controversy are 32,000 employés of the Underground Transit system. The union's stake is large, for it stands to lose approximately a half million dollars a year in dues.

Another stake, buried in the background of the highly complicated controversy, is that of the communist party which has assiduously striven to gain control of strategic transportation facilities in this city.

Charge Officials Are Reds.

Top officials of the Quill's TWU have been charged with membership in the communist party and ramifying organizations by the Dies congressional committee. Quill himself has denied membership in the party, but it has been noted he has faithfully followed the party line policies as laid down in Moscow.

Late last night at a meeting presided over by Quill several thousand day workers in the subway systems voted [by standing] to walk out on Monday unless the city enters into an agreement. Similar action was taken by a group of 1,000 night workers who met this afternoon at Transport hall. Other groups are expected to ratify the walkout threat.

BROWNELL, STEWART GAIN NCAA FINAL IN EXTRA HOLES

CARMICHAEL IS DEFEATED AFTER GOING TO 40TH

Greiner Carries On to 38th.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., June 27.—Earl Stewart of Louisiana State, a 5 foot, 9 inch redhead, and Raymond [Elmer] Brownell of Stanford, a 6 foot, 3 inch redhead, will play 36 holes tomorrow for the 44th golf championship of the National Collegiate Athletic association over Ohio State university's Scarlet course.

That is, they'll play 36 holes if they don't repeat their didoes of today. Maybe Earl and Ray have been reading about the recent doings of the Chicago White Sox. At any rate they came out of a blazing Ohio afternoon in which the temperature reached 91 degrees, winners of the two longest semi-final matches ever played in national competition by a final foursome.

Competition Is Unexpected.

Stewart, winner of the tournament medal last Tuesday, traveled 38 burning holes to eliminate the able Otto Greiner of Baltimore. The L. S. U. 19 year old can't take it by comparison with Brownell. The lanky Californian didn't succeed in doing in Dan Carmichael of Princeton, Columbus' main home town hope, until the 40th—yes, 40th—green of the match. You can look high and low, but you won't find a similar semi-final situation either in the American or British amateurs or the American PGA.

Those were two heartbreakers that Greiner and Carmichael lost, considering their progress thru this tournament. Dan, baseball and basketball star at Princeton, had to earn his match play rating in Tuesday's lengthy play-off. Otto went 21 holes yesterday morning to beat Dick Wolfley of Illinois, then came back to put out the defending champion, F. Dixon Brooke of Virginia. Today he seemed in a fair way to eliminating medalist Stewart. He was as much as four up on him at the 11th, trailed by one down at the 18th, and then returned to a 2 up margin by the 32d. The nonchalant southerner squared the match on the 34th, then holed a nine footer for his winning par at the 38th, after Greiner, trapped with his second, missed a 12 footer for a half.

Elmer Finds the Range.

Brownell, a member of the Stanford squad that won the team championship on Tuesday, subtracted 10 years from the life of Coach Eddie Twiggs by permitting Carmichael to be one up at the 18th and three to the good after the 23d. Then Elmer, as his mates have dubbed him, took three of the next four holes and went ahead at the 31st, only to have Carmichael square it with a birdie putt on the 34th. It appeared the lads might have to recess for dinner until Brownell sank a five foot birdie putt on the 505 yard 40th, after Car-

ZUPPKE ADDS 2D INSTALMENT TO STORY OF 'BREAK'

Elaborates on Split with Athletic Director.

Wilson on Trip

EFFORTS to reach Wendell S. Wilson, athletic director at the University of Illinois, for comment on Football Coach Bob Zuppke's revelations of the athletic situation at the university, were unsuccessful yesterday.

Wilson was on a pack trip in the mountains of Wyoming. The Tribune, in a call to Wilson's Teton Valley ranch near Kelly, Wyo., was told it would be impossible to reach him by telephone until next week. For several years Wilson has conducted a summer camp for boys in the Jackson Hole region.

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muskegon, Mich., June 27.—Bob Zuppke of Illinois continued his story today—the story back of the three year old movement to relieve him as coach of the Illini football team.

In cutting, sharp phraseology, Zuppke revealed more incidents which caused a rupture of friendship with Wendell [Weenie] Wilson, Illinois athletic director and a former football player under the veteran coach.

Zuppke reiterated, too, that he did not propose to answer a summons to a conference with Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, University of Illinois president, who has been requested by the trustees and athletic board to tell Zuppke that his resignation is the only solution to the muddled situation. Wilson has promised to retire as athletic director if Zuppke quits.

Phone Keeps Zuppke Busy.

Zuppke was busy all day long answering telephone calls from friends and newspaper men. To each he wound up with a spirited declaration that he would not resign under any conditions.

On June 12, at a meeting of the athletic board in the Palmer House, Wilson is reported to have made the motion that Zuppke be asked to retire. This was opposed by the three alumni members of the board, who in turn moved that Wilson resign.

"On the following day," said Zuppke today, "Illinois alumni had their golf festival at Westward Ho. During the dinner they gave me a rising vote of confidence. Among those who stood up were Wilson and Prof. Frank Richart." [The latter is a faculty member of the athletic board and voted with Wilson to ask for Zuppke's retirement.]

Zuppke stated, that contrary to reports at the time, he was not offered the post as athletic director after the death of George Huff in 1936. In the interest of preserving harmony, Zuppke said he agreed to say he was offered the directorship, but did not want to accept it.

Carries Out His Part.

"At the same time," continued Zuppke, "I promised I would be loyal to Wilson. I carried out my part of the bargain. At various banquets thruout the state attended by myself and Wilson, I was given the place of honor at the table, but usually maneuvered it so that Wilson got my place."

Shortly after Wilson became athletic director, Zuppke said, friends told him that his former football player had charged that Zuppke was "decrepit, sour, and rough," and that he had changed since the death of his wife. Zuppke's wife died shortly after Huff's death.

"President Willard invited me to dinner at his home," said the coach, "and I chattered as usual. When I started to leave the president said he didn't think I had changed any. Well, I put two and two together

$7,500 Matron Stakes Attracts Field of 15 at Arlington Today

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Arlington Park today presents a race which really is designed for the "improvement of the breed." It's the $7,500 Matron stakes, which will test the speed of a number of the nation's best fillies and mares over the mile route.

Altho the average $2 bettor is accustomed to jeer when he is told that the sport is designed primarily for the improvement of the breed, the men from the horse farm centers have campaigned tirelessly for more major events for fillies and mares. They will watch this afternoon's race with almost as much attention as they would a Derby or a Classic.

Wide Open Betting Race.

The ordinary race fans as well as the breeders will find plenty to interest them—for it's a wide open betting race if there ever was one. With Shine O' Night, Blue Delight, Valdina Myth, Proud One, Montsin, and Unerring in the overnight field of fifteen, the identity of the favorite is just as much of a problem as the identity of the winner.

Shine O' Night scored a surprise victory in this event last year. Montsin finished second on that occasion. In recent races both have demonstrated that they're returning to excellent form.

The consistent success of the Calumet stable assures Proud One of a strong play. She distinguished herself several weeks ago by winning the Acorn stakes at Belmont.

Valdina Myth Performing Well.

Valdina Myth, leading money winner of the juvenile fillies last season, has continued to perform well this year. She led the way home in the Ashland stakes at Keeneland and the Kentucky Oaks at Churchill Downs.

Blue Delight, winner of the Lassie stakes last season at Arlington Park, is going well again. She demonstrated her speed in winning an allowance event recently at Lincoln Fields.

Eligibles for the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap on July 4, were out for a tuneup race at a mile yesterday. The Woolford Farm's Technician, making his first start since running second to Viscounty in the Peabody Memorial handicap, beat the Milky Way Farm's Up the Creek by a length and a quarter in the sharp time of 1:36. The Millsdale Farm's Sun Lover was third.

Jockey William Strickler sent Technician to the front in the back stretch while Up the Creek and Sun Lover followed closely. The latter had been away slowly, but had quickly reached a contending position.

On the turn, Ken McCombs made his move with Sun Lover. Sending him to the outside, he passed Up the Creek and engaged Technician at the head of the stretch. Technician, racing along the rail, responded well and drew clear as Sun Lover tired in the last sixteenth.

Bobby Cruickshank was hurt in a fall from Chocolate Maid soon after the start of the seventh race. He was taken to the Northwest hospital in Des Plaines, suffering head injuries.

Matron Field

FIFTEEN fillies and mares were named in the overnight entries for the $7,500 Matron stakes which will be run today at Arlington Park. The draw for post position in this mile race will be made today. The field follows:

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs absorbed their customary whipping yesterday—the Pirates beat them, 4 to 2, on a pair of fuzzy runs in the ninth—but the show was not as tiresome as usual, thanks to a playful fan who took over in the midst of the eighth and some very daring tumbling by Cub fielders.

The fan, perhaps thinking that the ladies' day crowd was a bit bored, rushed out to the second base position after Dom Dallessandro had fanned for the second Cub out in the eighth. The umpires thought he was a ground attendant until he waved aloft a beverage bottle later found to bear the label "Old Early Grave." The umpires, reinforced by two city cops, then charged the frolicsome customer, one of the coppers trying to wrest away the bottle.

Entrusts Bottle to Cop.

As the fan was being led to the Cub dugout he broke away from his escort and slid into third base, with better form than most of the Cubs display, such times as they get on base. The escort, now bolstered by four ushers, seized the entertaining interloper once more. This time he handed his bottle to the copper he thought most trustworthy and slid into second, again displaying a technique envied by most of the Cubs.

Having had his fling the man rejoined his escort and left the field while thousands cheered. Later he said his name was Joe Stevens, just up from Paducah, Ky., on a lark. He never got back his bottle. At the police station, still later, he identified himself as Robert McGowan of Chicago and Gary, Ind.

The Cub tumbling acts involved efforts of Bill Nicholson and Lou Stringer to keep Phil Cavarretta from making catches in center. Nicholson succeeded, costing Claude Passeau and the Cubs the ball game. The side was retired, however, when Phil made a catch after he had been knocked on the seat of his pants by Stringer.

Lose Third to Sewell.

The loss was the sixth for the Cubs in their last seven games, one game having been salvaged in Passeau's 1 to 0 triumph over the Giants.

The two runs yesterday, however, lifted the Cub total to six earned runs in their last 52 innings.

The Pirates, in making it four victories in seven games with the Cubs this season, made 14 hits to six for the Cubs. The victor was Truett Sewell who has whipped the Cubs three times this season.

The first two runs yesterday were made by Maurice Van Robays, following doubles. Al Lopez drove him home with a single in the second in-

If I Shall Come.

If I shall come to you some winter day,
When you are full of years and memories,
And on your wrinkled forehead softly lay
My lips to rouse you from your reveries;
Will you recall the springtime and the dawn,
When youth with budding life was all aglow,
Before the autumn with its visage wan
Foretold the fallen blossoms and the snow?

And will you lay your head upon my breast,
As you were wont to do in days gone by,
Like a lone bird returning to the nest
When shadows deepen in the western sky?
For there you will find peacefulness at last
After the storms of life are overpast.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 27.—The White Sox, those poor lads who have been puzzled for several weeks over their daytime batting eyes, didn't find a remedy for their affliction tonight under the blazing rays of the stadium bulbs. They were the same futile bat wielders as they succumbed to the Cleveland Indians who thus retained first place, which had been handed them in the afternoon by the Athletics' success over the Yankees. The score was 3 to 1, a count that made 42,489 spectators quite happy.

For the Sox it was another case of too much Al Milnar, an ungainly southpaw who has troubled them before. They were potent enough to collect their customary daily assortment of seven or eight hits, seven on this occasion, but they were all singles and the punch wasn't there in the pinches, a weakness that caused 10 men to die on the bases, six of them in two innings.

Bill Almost Lasts.

Bill Dietrich, making his first appearance since June 2, went almost to the finish before positive evidence that he had lost his stuff was produced. Bespectacled Bill had a lapse in the third, giving the Indians their first run, but was restored to a tie in the fourth when the Sox did some business at the plate. In the sixth Dietrich was forced to give up another run, mainly the compliments of Gerry Walker, and in the eighth the departed as the result of a bomblike inside the park homer by Jeff Heath, Lee Ross handled what little pitching remained.

Along with their weaknesses in the pinch the Sox had another couple innings such as they experienced thru failure to bunt when they lost a 15 inning decision yesterday at Washington. Bunting broke into the picture again, Dietrich popping into a double play after Mike Tresh had walked to open the seventh.

Mike Is Nailed.

Another blunder occurred in the eighth which Mike Kreevich and Joe Kuhel opened with singles. After Taft Wright had popped out, the hit and run sign was flashed. The Indians caught it, pitched out to Appling and Kreevich was nailed sliding into third. Another possible scoring incident was thereby shattered.

The first inning didn't produce any runs but it was just about the best chapter of the evening's serial. Two of the Sox were retired when a storm broke suddenly around Milnar.

Kuhel and Wright singled and

SAMMY SECREET ENDS DRILLS FOR BOUT WITH ARON

Victory Monday May Mean Chance at Al Davis.

Sammy Secreet, Canonsburg, Pa., welterweight, and Milt Aron, will end boxing drills this afternoon in Trafton's gymnasium for a return bout of 10 rounds in Marigold Gardens Monday. Secreet, who scored an upset over Aron in the arena June 16, will seek a match with Al [Bummy] Davis or Mike Kaplan if he beats the Chicagoan again Monday. If Aron is victorious he will appear in Philadelphia July 21 and in Brooklyn July 29. Al Nettlow would be his opponent in Philadelphia.

The offer for the assignment in Brooklyn was made by Jimmy Bronson, promoter, and Billy Brown, matchmaker for Chick Meehan, the old New York university and Manhattan football coach. Meehan is head of a syndicate backing the Brooklyn Boxing club.

Johnny Barbara, Chicago middleweight, who meets Jack Whittinghill in an eight round event on Monday's card, has signed to face Fritz Zivic, welterweight champion, in a nontitle match in Philadelphia July 14. Frankie Pintero, Milwaukee junior welterweight, yesterday was substituted for Mickey Grod in a four round match on the Marigold program against Buddy Jones, former Indianapolis sectional Golden Gloves lightweight winner.

Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight, is sought for matches against Buddy Knox in Minneapolis July 11, Jimmy Bivins in Chicago July 14, and Eddie Simms in Omaha July 21. . . . Ronald Born of Granite City, Ill., has been obtained for a four round contest against Jimmy Joyce, Gary featherweight, in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena July 9. Both are Golden Gloves graduates. . . . Charley McDonald, Hollywood, Cal., matchmaker, has offered Billy Marquart an encounter with Cecil Hudson Aug. 1. . . . Pete Lello, 1936 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight title holder, will leave today for a meeting with Ray Robinson in New York next Tuesday on a program headed by Fritzie Zivic and Al Davis.

ELSON, BARBER TO AIR ALL-STAR GAME ON MUTUAL

Bob Elson and Red Barber will share in presenting to W-G-N and Mutual network listeners a play by play description of the All-Star game between players of the National and American leagues Tuesday, July 8. Broadcasting from Briggs stadium in Detroit, Elson and Barber will go on the air at 1:15 p. m. [CDST]. The game will start 15 minutes later.

Elson regularly describes the Chicago Cubs and White Sox home games for W-G-N, and Barber broadcasts descriptions of all Brooklyn Dodger games in Ebbets field over the facilities of WOR, Mutual's New York outlet. Elson has described every world series since 1929, has yet to miss broadcasting an All-Star baseball game, and has been airing the home contests of Chicago major league teams for 12 years. Barber has covered six consecutive world series contests.

DECIDE CHICAGO TEAM FOR PUBLIC PARKS TOURNEY

Chicago public parks golfers who passed previous preliminary tests met yesterday at Sunset Valley in the 36 hole play-off for four places in the national tournament in Spokane, Wash., July 14-15.

Frank Ogrin Jr. won the medal with 76—72—148, four over par for the double round. Others who will make the trip to Spokane are: Ray Chamberlin, 74—75—149; Chuck Boywid, 75—75—150, and Jack Nix, 71—80—151. Nix set the pace in the forenoon by shooting one under par, but his work around the greens was erratic in the afternoon round.

Champion of Champions Tourney Won by Hoerner

Jack Hoerner of North Shore yesterday won the annual champion of champions tournament at Kildeer with a 72—74—146. It was his fourth victory in five years. The tournament eligibles are club champions and runners-up in the Chicago district. Other scores:

Pick Wagner, Kildeer, 150; Russell Martin, Flossmoor, 150; George Victor, Glen View, 151; Stan Grauman, Northmoor, 158.

ZUPPKE ADDS 2D INSTALMENT TO STORY OF 'BREAK'

Elaborates on Split with Athletic Director.

and decided that Dr. Willard also had heard this story about my supposed feebleness."

"Felt Its Sorrows Most."

Then came another Zuppke punch line.

"I have given Illinois a lot of thrills and also sorrows, but it must be remembered I felt its sorrows most.

"I know I can still coach. Why? Because when I talk to the boys you can hear a pin drop in the gymnasium. When they stop listening to me and giving the last ounce of their ability, I'll know I'm thru, but not before. I have spent more than a quarter of a century making friends for Illinois. I have helped organize more than 100 alumni clubs. I have made more than 2,000 speeches, paying my own expenses at least half the time."

Zuppke could have added, too, that he was chairman of the Memorial stadium drive. Faculty members protested when he suggested $2,200,000 for the structure. It was ready when Red Grange started his brilliant football career in 1923.

Stadium Is Paid For.

"That stadium is paid for, every cent," said Zuppke. "So the guarantors needn't worry about all that money and advance the cause of prosleyting just because other big schools follow this plan trying to wipe out huge deficits on their stadiums."

Zuppke wanted to emphasize again, too, that he isn't whining—or bragging or trying to embarrass any one.

"By keeping still these last few years I gradually was getting the worst of it. They thought they had an old softy under control," he said, with a humorous glint in his eye.

Then he had one of his philosophical flashes.

"Illinois is a vague term for that school. It's not the brick buildings and the real estate—it's the men. If Illinois doesn't stand up for educational ideals then it will lose respect for itself because life is largely a struggle for respect."

Traditionally Against Proselyting.

That was just another way of giving his opinion of bringing in big, strong boys under a proselyting program.

"The traditional athletic program of Illinois, as set down by George Huff," he continued, "is against proselyting. Wilson has told Illinois alumni that his summer camp in the Teton mountains near Yellowstone park would be a means of attracting athletes to Illinois. The idea was that high school graduates would come to the camp as instructors for the small boys there. Well, this hasn't brought any football players to Illinois. And remember, too, the Big Ten has a rule against proselyting."

Trustees to Meet July 11.

It is Zuppke's understanding that the board of trustees will meet on July 11 in Chicago. Ch

Steve Sundra Keeps Eight Hits Scattered.

The Yanks' slugging center fielder, striving to pass George Sisler's 19 year old record of hitting safely in 41 straight games, singled in his first time at bat to send Johnny Sturm home in the first inning. His home run came in the seventh inning and was the 36th by a Yankee over a record string of 22 consecutive games. Score:

LIST 3 EVENTS TOMORROW FOR DOG FANCIERS

Chicagoland dog fanciers have a choice of three interesting events on tomorrow's schedule. The Chicago Bulldog club is to hold a puppy match tomorrow afternoon, Scottish terrier owners will stage a special sanctioned match for puppies of this breed, and owners who are interested in seeing well-trained dogs perform may attend a series of obedience trials.

Mrs. Berndalyn Kewley, secretary of the bulldog club, said yesterday that the bulldog puppy match will be held on the lawn of the Suburban club, two miles west of Hinsdale on Ogden avenue. Judging will start at 2 p. m. and owners may enter their pups on the grounds. Scottish terrier fanciers will meet at the Northwood kennels on North avenue near highway 83, Elmhurst. Judging under Albert Butterworth of Highland Park will start at 2 p. m. Willy Necker, Wheeling, and E. S. Chittenden, Toledo, O., will pick the winners in the obedience trials for all breeds to be held tomorrow at the Gessner kennels, 7418 Higgins road. The tracking test will start at 8 a. m. and the regular obedience classes at 10 a. m. Judging will continue most of the day.

DIZZY DEAN MAY LEAVE CUB JOB FOR RADIO WORK

Dizzy Dean may quit baseball, after all.

Tho pleased with his recent promotion to first base coach of the Cubs as successor to Charley Grimm, Diz is considering offers from a St. Louis brewery to broadcast major league games the remainder of this season and for the next two seasons.

It is reported that Dean has been offered a contract calling for $5,000 for the remainder of this season and $10,000 each for the seasons of 1942 and 1943.

General Manager Jim Gallagher of the Cubs said last night that Dean had not discussed the project with him, but added the Cubs would do nothing to block any move which Diz thinks will be to his advantage.

Still Champion

Ellamae Williams of Chicago, who yesterday won the state women's golf champinoship for the third straight time. She defeated Jeanne Cline of Bloomington in 38 holes.

Miss Williams Retains State Golf Crown

Danville, Ill., June 27 (AP).—Ellamae Williams of Chicago won her third consecutive Illinois women's golf championship today by defeating Jeanne Cline, 17 years old, of Bloomington, on the 38th green of their title match.

Three down with five holes to go, the defending champion came back with a par and two birdies on excellent putting to square the match on the 34th green. The rivals then scored pars on three straight holes, but on the second extra hole Miss Cline's second shot landed in a sand trap while the champion reached the green and went on to take another par and victory.

Ahead Only at Finish.

The Chicago player never was ahead of her rival until the final hole. But thruout the long match Miss Williams' putter worked overtime to keep her in the running.

One down at the end of the morning 18, Miss Williams fell two behind on the 20th and three on the 22d. Then the champion's putter spoke up.

Long putts accounted for a par on the 32d hole and a birdie two on the short 33d. On the 34 green Miss Williams sank one from 25 feet for another birdie. When Miss Cline missed from nine feet and took a pan the match was tied.

Strong on Back Nine.

The defending champion was particularly adept on the last nine holes, both morning and afternoon, getting par 36s each time. Miss Williams, who had a 43—36—79, five over par for the morning round, turned in a 77 in the afternoon. Miss Cline had 78 for the afternoon after taking 39—38—77 in the morning.

GIANTS, 7; PHILS, 4.

New York, June 27 (AP).—Bill Lohrman settled down after a shaky first inning tonight to pitch the Giants to a 7 to 4 victory over Philadelphia. The Phils scored three in the first but the Giants came back with four runs in their half and added three more in the third when Mel Ott hit his 18th home run of the season.

Nick Etten, Phils' first baseman, smashed a three-run homer, his tenth of the year, off Lohrman in the first inning, but was injured in the fourth in a collision with Johnny Rucker at first base.

Etten was knocked unconscious and was taken to Polyclinic hospital. He was not seriously hurt. Score:

OLYMPIC CLUB IS EXPECTED TO KEEP AAU TITLE

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27 (AP).—The Olympic club of San Francisco, tho outmanned by the New York A. C., was expected tonight to retain its national AAU track team title in the two day championships which open tomorrow afternoon at Franklin field.

Coached by Charley Hunter and starring record breakers Les Steers in the high jump and Cornelius Warmerdam in the pole vault, the westerners will go after the team prize with only 16 men, compared to the 53 who piled up the staggering total of 159 points a year ago. But Hunter figures mere numbers won't be so important this time.

Hunter expects his men to win a very probable eight firsts, the same number they got at Fresno in 1940, and possibly even nine.

If this happens, it would give the Olympic club 80 points. Against that Hunter can rate the New York A. C. as sure of only two firsts, by Al Blozis in the shot put and Joe McCluskey in the 3,000 meter steeplechase.

JACKSON HELPED PROTECT HAGUE, SENATORS TOLD

They're Hostile to Witness at Committee Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Members of a senate judiciary subcommittee heard testimony today that Attorney General Robert H. Jackson blocked criminal prosecution of members of the notorious Jersey City Hague machine in return for Mayor Frank Hague's support of President Roosevelt for a third term.

The subcommittee is considering Jackson's qualifications to be a justice of the United States Supreme court, for which he has been nominated by President Roosevelt.

A Previous Charge

At a hearing last Saturday Maxwell M. Wallach, a Detroit, Mich., lawyer whose son was killed in the Spanish civil war, charged Jackson with abuse of authority in the dismissal of indictments against 16 communists accused of recruiting volunteers for service with the Spanish Loyalist forces.

Today's witness was Robert C. McManus, former Washington newspaper correspondent and now editor of a "good government" publication, the New Jersey Voter of Jersey City. The subcommittee, headed by Senator Carl A. [Purity in Politics] Hatch, a New Mexico Democrat, listened to McManus with repeated manifestations of impatience and hostility.

When the witness requested that certain citizens of New Jersey be called to testify regarding Jackson's part in the Hague scandal, Hatch cut him off, saying he was not going to "start out on a fishing expedition."

"Long Arm of Hague."

"That's the reception everybody from New Jersey gets when they come down here and run up against what Senator Tobey [Charles W. Tobey, R., N. H.] calls 'the long arm of Frank Hague,'" the witness replied.

Hatch summed up McManus' testimony thus: "What you're trying to say is that Jackson made a trade with Hague whereby he would not proceed with these cases in return for Hague's support of the President last year."

McManus said he merely was raising the question and asking the committee to investigate it.

Meanwhile, the senate proper confirmed the nomination of Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone to be chief justice of the United States. He will succeed Charles Evans Hughes, who will retire July 1.

Mrs. Ruth Walgreen Dart Stephan and her former husband, Justin W. Dart, have held a series of hearings before Judge Rudolph Desort on a petition by Mrs. Stephan to amend their divorce decree in connection with the custody of their two sons, Justin Jr., 11 years old, and Peter, 8, it was disclosed yesterday.

Mrs. Stephan was' divorced from Dart in 1939. The divorce decree allowed Mrs. Stephan and Dart joint custody of the children. Both Dart and his former wife have remarried.

Mrs. Stephan is seeking permission to take the children to Connecticut, where she plans to reside. Dart would have the children the greater part of their school vacations under the proposal. Dart, thru his attorney, William B. Gemmill, is opposing the move.

Judge Desort is scheduled to hold another hearing on the matter Monday.

MAYER ESTATE WINS ORDER FOR $900,000 REFUND

One of the largest tax refund judgments ever entered in this area against the internal revenue department was ordered yesterday when Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan ordered the department to repay more than $900,000 in inheritance taxes and interest to the estate of Levy Mayer, founder of the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian, and Platt.

Mayer died in 1922, leaving an estate which trustees estimated at $7,952,598 and on which they computed the federal inheritance tax at $1,232,019. The commissioner of internal revenue estimated the estate at $8,102,367, however, and a total tax of $1,264,020 was paid.

In 1927 Isaac H. Mayer, a brother of Levy, brought suit for a refund of $436,156, contending that Levy's widow, Mrs. Rachel Mayer, had an untaxable dower right in the estate amounting to $2,180,779. Dower was not made taxable under federal law until after Mayer's death. Judge Sullivan upheld this interpretation, and ordered the disputed sum paid, with interest at 6 per cent since 1923, making a total of more than $900,000. Government attorneys said they would appeal.

A JAIL ALUMNUS WANTS A BREAK; OUT? NOPE, IN!

County jail guards were alert last night to frustrate for the second consecutive day an attempted jail break by Edwin George Petersen, 40 years old, a laundry truck driver. This will be hard, because he's trying to break in.

Petersen, who lives at 1134 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, was released Feb. 13 after a month in alimony row. He returned Thursday night for a visit, pounding furiously on the knocker and chanting: "Let me in. I want to come home."

The guard refused and the noise died away; but when a visitor was let out Petersen popped in. An assistant jailer threw him out.

Yesterday afternoon Petersen returned and resumed business at the old stand until William Lenz, jail clerk, convinced him he couldn't get in unless some one committed him.

"If I call a judge names could he get me in?" Petersen asked. Lenz said it would depend on the judge, and Petersen wandered hopefully away.

P. S. Petersen's wife, Katherine Ann, was awarded a divorce yesterday by Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington. She charged habitual drunkenness and was awarded custody of their child, Joanne, and $12 weekly support. They were married Sept. 27, 1930.

TWO ON BICYCLE HIT AUTO; ONE DEAD, ONE HURT

The driver, Robert Holzman, 31, of 5485 Cornell avenue, told Racine avenue police he had just started to drive on after waiting for a train at a crossing there when the bicycle struck the car.

The driver and four passengers in a Chicago Motor Coach bus were slightly injured when the bus skidded into an abutment in Logan boulevard at Western avenue. The driver is W. E. Danielson, 38 years old, 3635 Wrightwood avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 443 persons were killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 223 died in Chicago, where 11,669 were injured during the same period.

Joseph Sereda, 28 years old, 1108 North Francisco avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday and deprived of his driver's license for 30 days by Judge John T. Zuris in the Safety court. Sereda was convicted of drunken driving. Thomas Burns, 4932 Potomac avenue, was sentenced to 15 days in the Bridewell for reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. William Barker, 36 years old, colored, of Chicago Heights, got 10 days for reckless driving.

COTTONSEED OIL CEILING SLATED; TRADERS LASHED

Henderson to Limit Lumber Prices.

Fear Break in Market

Commodity brokers expressed fear last night that the price warning by Leon Henderson would cause a break in commodity markets. The Chicago Board of Trade invoked an emergency rule to limit today's fluctuations in cottonseed oil futures. Trading will be permitted only within 1 cent a pound of yesterday's closing quotations. Increased margins were ordered by the New York Produce exchange on cottonseed oil. It was reported from Washington the senate agricultural committee will hold a special meeting today to consider Henderson's statement. Members of congress had criticized Henderson's earlier action placing price ceilings on combed cotton yarn and hides.

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Shortly after announcing that a ceiling would be put on some west coast lumber prices, Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Production Management and Civilian Supply, said that the price of cottonseed oil was being studied and "ceiling action is planned."

The proposed cottonseed oil ceiling, he said, "will be far below present prices." Henderson took occasion to issue a general warning that "people who are speculating in essential food commodities realize the risk that they are running."

"It seems hard for a certain group of people," he said, "to become accustomed to the idea that we do not intend to let prices get out of hand. What looks to them like a profitable rise in commodities is going to turn out to be an expensive disaster.

"Fair Warning," He Says.

"People who have been buying certain fats and oils for speculative purposes must not be surprised when they find it necessary to sell at a price far below levels now obtaining. They have had fair warning.

"Producers have benefited only to a limited extent from such speculative increases in prices and consumers should not associate the speculatively high prices with returns to farmers. It is the speculator who has been walking out with the loot."

Since last October, the price administrator declared, crude cottonseed oil at southern mills had risen from about 4.4 cents a pound to 11.5 cents "under the influence, it is believed, of a substantial amount of speculative activity."

Ceiling for Some Lumber.

Earlier, Henderson had announced that a price ceiling was being formulated for the "upper grades and specialties of west coast lumber" because rates had reached "unreasonable levels."

Henderson said that the movement of upper grade lumber prices on the coast had been under scrutiny for some time and that "while it is recognized that heavy buying of specialties may have been stimulated by unusual conditions, such conditions do not warrant the price advances that have occurred."

He said that there had been price increases of from $8 to $15 per 1,000 board feet on specialty items such as ship decking, flooring, and box car materials.

Tells Stand on Other Grades.

"There is no justification for any increases in the price of any other grades of west coast lumber," Henderson added.

The price administration office revised its schedule for nickel to encourage imports of scrap and secondary materials containing nickel.

A statement by Henderson said that the effect of the amendment would be to permit the sale in this country of such materials at prices above the established maximum prices to the extent necessary to cover the cost of importing the materials, including duty, freight, and insurance.

Cotton Group Pledges Aid.

New York, June 27 (AP).—The cotton textile industry is willing to cooperate with the federal government in any "equitable method" of controling prices, W. Ray Bell, president of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, said today.

ILLINOIS' OIL CONTROL BILL PASSES IN HOUSE, BUT FACES NEW FIGHT

Springfield, Ill., June 27 (AP).—The Illinois house of representatives passed today the bill setting up a state oil conservation program and sent it back to the senate for concurrence in amendments over which a new controversy developed.

The controversial house amendments would give to the state mines and minerals department authority to make production regulations to prevent underground waste during the present national armament emergency, if such a step were requested by Harold L. Ickes, federal oil coödinator. The amended bill passed the house 81 to 37.

Read to the house was a telegram in which A. K. Swann of Evansville, Ind., attorney for the Tri-State Petroleum Producers' association and several independent producer organizations, repudiated his previously announced support of the amendments.

Cotton Climbs to 11 Year High as Use Widens

Cotton prices advanced to 11 year peaks yesterday as the demand for cotton goods ran far ahead of production. Traders said the output of cotton cloth and yarn by textile mills has reached the highest levels on record. This and the threat of widespread damage to the new cotton crop from boll weevils contributed to yesterday's advance, brokers reported.

In New York traders on the futures markets paid $75.85 a bale for cotton to be delivered from the new crop in October. This was the highest price paid for cotton since 1930.

The present domestic rate of consumption as a result of large army and navy purchases and a general increase in consumer buying is making up for the loss of foreign markets cut off by the war, textile men reported.

Sales Exceed Output.

Mills report that sales of cotton cloth are far in excess of total production and that record-breaking backlogs of cloth orders are piling up. They said they have little to offer the new buyer. Delivery on cotton goods bought now cannot be promised for many months, mill officials said.

In the southeast where electric power shortages have reduced mill output 25 to 35 per cent in the last few weeks, the industry has inaugurated a seven day work week in an effort to maintain somewhere near normal production.

In Washington, civilians drafted to aid the government officials in the rearmament program have predicted that if the power shortage continues some rationing of cotton goods may be necessary.

Some Talk of Rationing.

Consumption of cotton in the United States in May was at a rate of 42,300 bales a day, a new record. If consumption is maintained at this rate, and it probably will be according to trade sources, annual consumption will reach 10,875,000 bales. The largest annual consumption in the last 20 years up until last year was in 1937 when industry used 7,950,000 bales. Consumption last year was 8,018,000 bales, the all-time record.

Cotton production in the United States has been stabilized thru acreage control by the Agricultural Adjustment administration at close to 12 million bales a year. During the 1939-1940 crop year [Aug. 1 to July 31] almost half the crop was exported.

Expect Demand from Britain.

Meantime, Great Britain is expected to request more than a million bales within the next year under the lease-lend program. It is believed that despite heavy damage to cotton reserve stocks in some areas from bombing attacks, England has sufficient supplies at present, but that stocks will need to be replenished before long.

Altho these figures would indicate a possible shortage of cotton, traders said the industry has the vast government owned stocks to fall back on if prices advance sufficiently.

The government, thru its lending agency, the Commodity Credit corporation, owned 6,170,000 bales of cotton as of June 1. This is cotton the corporation acquired when loans on crop from 1934 to 1937 were defaulted. In addition, it has approximately 2,800,000 bales pledged for loans on the 1938, 1939, and 1940 crops.

Cotton Repossessed Rapidly.

Cotton pledged for government loans in the last three years currently is being repossessed at a rapid rate. The New York Cotton exchange estimates that the CCC will own only about 500,000 to 750,000 bales of this cotton by July 31.

Cotton traders have expressed some fear over other regulations regarding sale of this government owned cotton. The CCC cannot sell more than 300,000 bales in any one calendar month or more than 1,500,000 bales in any calendar year.

A "balance sheet" of American cotton as prepared by A. O'Hara, statistician for George H. McFadden & Brother, Memphis, Tenn., follows:

(In thousands of bales.)

Carryover from other crops on Aug. 1		10,469
Production last year		12,318
Total supply on Aug. 1, 1940		22,787
Domestic consumption to June 1	7,796
*Exports to June 1	975
Total disappearance to June 1		8,771
Supply in U. S. on June 1.		14,015

*To Britain under rubber barter agreement.

Of this total supply of 14,015,000 bales, only 3,171,000 was available in regular trade channels. Government financed stocks of 8,987,000 bales and mill stock of 1,856,000 bales were deducted as unavailable.

MODEL PLANE MAKERS GRANTED PRIORITY ON ALUMINUM SUPPLIES

Model airplane enthusiasts received good news from Washington yesterday. Officials granted priority for aluminum to manufacturers of the miniature gasoline motors used in the scaled-down craft.

Other metal parts necessary to model flying also are included because priorities officials decided that the hobby, thru its development of flying knowledge and enthusiasm, has its place in the rearmament program. Furthermore, the quantities of metal needed for the tiny engines and fittings are small.

This was also good news to some 40 manufacturers of model merchandise and clubs who will exhibit their products and handicraft at the National Model Hobby show in the Morrison hotel July 1 to 5.

Utility Fights SEC's Power as a Dictator

Wilmington, Del., June 27 (AP).—Counsel for the North American company, vast utility system fighting for permission to dissolve a subsidiary, argued in federal court here today that the Securities and Exchange commission should not set itself up "in the rôle of a dictator."

"It cannot be too strongly stressed," said S. Pearce Browning Jr., chief counsel for North American, "that the public utility act gives the commission absolutely no power to require any holding company to continue its own existence."

Seeks to Restrain Company's Vote.

The argument was on an injunction asked by the SEC to restrain North American from voting its 83.49 per cent control for dissolution of an intermediate holding company, the North American Light and Power company.

Asking Judge John P. Nields to issue the injunction, Lawrence S. Lesser, SEC attorney, accused the $1,250,000,000 parent company of attempting to "sidestep" SEC jurisdiction and "cut a sizable plum" by breaking up its subsidiary. Lesser asserted that by the proposed dissolution North American would receive more than $14,000,000 for stock holdings valued at less than $8,000,000. He also said that this would result in a financial loss to Light and Power's minority security holders.

Utility Says Loss Is Result.

North American countered with the assertion that the plan as now outlined would bring it a loss of $15,000,000.

At the conclusion of argument lasting more than five hours Judge Nields reserved decision on the SEC plea for the restraining order. At his request the opposing attorneys agreed to an adjournment of the Light and Power company's stockholders' meeting scheduled here for next Monday. A new meeting was set for July 21.

UTILITY ACCEPTS BOND OFFER IT ONCE REJECTED

New York, June 27 [Special].—The New York Electric and Gas corporation today accepted a bid, previously rejected, from the Equitable Life Assurance society for $35,393,000 of its first mortgage 3¼ per cent bonds. The earlier rejection of the bid was rescinded with permission of the Securities and Exchange commission.

At the same time the company asked for new bids on 120,000 shares of preferred stock. Three banking syndicates which had submitted earlier bids on the bonds had refused to bid on the stock. Under the new SEC compulsory bidding rule, separate bids were requested on each issue.

Title Company Offers Worker Pension Plan

A flexible retirement plan which can be adjusted to individual needs was submitted yesterday to the 1,300 employés of the Chicago Title and Trust company by Holman D. Pettibone, president. The program is voluntary and becomes effective July 1.

The program, in effect, guarantees each participating employé a minimum return of 25 per cent on his contributed savings and any other benefits which may accrue from the trust fund, depending on his contributions, his salary, and length of service with the company.

Any employé who is at least 21 years old and has been with the company for two years or more may make systematic contributions from his salary of not less than 2 per cent nor more than 5 per cent [or $500] in any year.

Company to Contribute.

The company will contribute a sum equal to 25 per cent of the amount paid into the fund each year by the employés and will make an additional annual contribution of 10 per cent of the company's net earnings after allowing $6 a share on the capital stock.

These employé and company contributions will constitute a trust fund which will be invested and managed by the company without charge. Any income or loss from investments will be apportioned among the individual accounts.

The distribution of the benefits of the fund has been worked out to meet the differing circumstances and income tax status of the employés. Payment is made on retirement, death, or permanent disability in optional forms: In a lump sum cash payment, in income instalments, or by the purchase of a fully paid retirement annuity. The retirement age is 65 for men and 60 for women.

Other Provisions of Plan.

Employés who resign or are dismissed after the age of 50 will receive the full benefits of the program; otherwise they will receive their entire contributions, but a lesser amount of accrued benefits, depending on their length of service.

Employés will be permitted to participate in the program or drop out at will. The benefits paid will be in addition to those which employés will receive under the federal social security program.

"The retirement fund is planned not only as a provision for old age, but also to help each participating employé accumulate a fund which will be available upon leaving the service of the company or in case of disability or death," the company said.

Congressional Price Quiz Proposal Beaten in House

Washington, D. C., June 27 [Special].—The house today by a vote of 200 to 100 rejected a resolution for a five man congressional committee to explore the whole price situation and recommend control legislation. The resolution was defeated largely by the farm bloc, which charged that it was directed mostly at farm product prices and would result wholly to the advantage of city consumers.

OPM Approves an 85 Million Carnegie Steel Co. Expansion

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP). — William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management, approved today an $85,000,000 expansion program by the Carnegie Illinois Steel corporation to provide annually an additional 400,000 tons of steel of types especially needed by the navy.

The plan calls for $75,000,000 to be spent at Homestead, Pa., and $10,000,000 at Duquesne, Pa. In addition to the new ingot capacity the program will provide additional finishing facilities.

The new plants would turn out armor, special treatment steel, and heavy forgings. The navy suggested the program and Carnegie Illinois asked government financing for it.

Authorizes Big Projects.

The Defense Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, authorized approximately $35,000,000 worth of government projects.

Largest was $20,281,000 to build and equip a plant at North Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., to be used by the Sperry Gyroscope company to make scinetific equipment for the army.

An additional $10,267,043 was alloted to build and equip airplane part factories for the Buick division of General Motors corporation at Chicago and Flint, Mich. The Buick division previously was alloted $31,075,150 for the same purpose.

Fisher Body Gets Allotment.

The Fisher Body division of General Motors was alloted $894,001 for facilities at Detroit, Mich., and Muncie, Ind., where aircraft parts will be manufactured.

The war department announced the following contracts: General Motors corporation, guide lamp division, Anderson, Ind., $1,306,960, for cartridge cases; Muncie [Ind.] Gear works, $807,300, for gun carriages and spare parts; Buda company, Harvey, Ill., $554,232, for engines and spare parts; Chicago Flexible Shaft company, Chicago, $327,684, for fuses.

TREASURY ASKS 15 PCT. CAR TAX; STIRS UP A ROW

House Committee Is Caught by Surprise.

Calls for New Car Slash

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Armament requirements will force a greater cut in production of automobiles and trucks than the 20 per cent reduction originally ordered, John D. Biggers, production director for the Office of Production Management, announced tonight.

He called all manufacturers to a conference July 2 to discuss the situation.

Biggers did not say how much of an additional cut would be necessary, but explained that the meeting was intended to work out methods of minimizing dislocations which might result from the curtailment. The cut will affect 1942 models. The 20 per cent cut already ordered would mean a reduction of 1,065,820 units under the current year's schedule.

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Members of the house ways and means committee said the treasury today recommended a 15 per cent tax on automobiles for the combined purposes of raising revenue and curtailing production.

The legislators said the proposal stirred a heated debate in the committee, which is considering proposed increases in a wide variety of excise taxes as well as new levies.

The recommendation came as something of a surprise because the treasury originally had proposed doubling the present 3½ per cent tax on sales of new motor vehicles.

Some legislators expressed belief the treasury's latest proposal was advanced as a result of recommendations by Leon Henderson, price control administrator, and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, that the tax on automobiles be boosted to 20 or 25 per cent as a means of curbing inflation.

Tax Collections Set Mark

The treasury reported meanwhile that June income and excess profits tax collections have exceeded $900,000,000—the largest figure for such collections in any June.

June 15 was the due date of the second installment of these taxes. In March, when the first installment was paid, collections were $1,207,000,000. However, the corporate excess profits tax was so new then that many companies obtained postponements so that the June figure probably contained more excess profits tax than the March figure. The two taxes are lumped together in field reports, and it may be several weeks before separate figures will be available.

The treasury said that on June 25, with five days of the month and also of the fiscal year yet to go, the month's collections of the two taxes were $900,751,819 and the fiscal year's total was $3,454,219,517 — also a record.

Exceeds Budget Estimate

The fiscal year figure indicated a final total nearly $500,000,000 in excess of the January budgetary estimate of $3,055,000,000.

The fiscal year total of all types of federal revenues passed the $7,012,930,000 budget estimate several days ago, and on June 25 had reached $7,528,713,439.

Expenditures, while also breaking peacetime records were lagging behind the budget estimate of $13,303,370,970. On June 25, spending aggregated $12,467,491,715.

Naming of Coal Czar Is Hinted; Reveal OPM Lacks Fuel Power

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Word that President Roosevelt favors putting coal priority problems in the hands of the bituminous coal division prompted discussion today of possibilities that a "coal czar" may be named to combat impending shortages.

The President's opinion was disclosed by Edward R. Stettinius Jr., director of the priorities division of the Office of Production Management, which figuratively has washed its hands of allotment of priorities on the nation's basic fuel.

Stettinius States Position.

Stettinius, asked before a house committee whether his division would control coal, replied:

"I raised with the President at a meeting of the commission [advisory commission to council of national defense] the question as to whether coal was to fall within our jurisdiction, and the President asked that all coal matters be left in the hands of the bituminous coal division, and we never assumed in the raw materials department responsibility over coal. In OPM, the successor to the commission, coal matters are not handled."

The opinion was received with astonishment by usually well informed officials of the coal division and the department of interior of which the price regulating agency is a part.

Coal Men Expect Control.

Meantime, taking their cue from appointment of Secretary Harold L. Ickes as an "oil czar," coal men indicated they would not be surprised if a similar control of their industry were ordered.

Railroads now are handling a business running approximately 10,000,000 tons weekly, and have little surplus equipment. With continued expansion of the arms program indications were that upon the usual fall pickup in domestic heating demands a jump of 11 per cent in tonnages may be expected, taxing carriers' capacities.

Propose Zone Work Pacts in Plane Industry

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Sidney Hillman, OPM associate director, announced today that an effort would be made to establish "zone" agreements between labor and management in the aircraft industry similar to those being negotiated for shipbuilding. These agreements would be made merely to do away with work stoppages thru forbidding strikes or lockouts, leaving the other problems of employer-employé relations to the normal methods of collective bargaining.

At the same time, Hillman disclosed that conferences are under way between the army, navy, maritime commission, Federal Works agency, and representatives of American Federation of Labor unions for stabilization of work in armament construction. This also will be worked out on a zone basis, he said.

Plan Early Conferences.

The aircraft plan would call for a national over-all committee, with separate agreements for various geographical areas to be worked out. Invitations to meetings on this proposal will be issued within a few days to both management and unions.

The OPM official said that the principal unions involved would be the machinists, the CIO automobile workers, and the pattern makers.

One of the aims will be two-year contracts which would provide stability in wages and no interruption of work.

OTHER LABOR ACTIVITIES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A labor dispute over the disciplining of a union member threatened yesterday to halt top speed production at the Midland, Mich., plant of the Dow Chemical company, producer of 75 per cent of the nation's output of magnesium. The chemical division of the United Mine Workers [CIO] established picket lines about the plant after the management suspended a worker in what an official said was a disciplinary measure.

At San Francisco CIO machinists voted to go back to work in shipyards, if given a separate contract. The CIO machinists followed the lead of AFL members of the craft who had agreed to return to work under a so-called AFL "master contract" providing for $1.12 an hour with time and one-half for overtime.

Aircraft Strike Settled.

Federal and state conciliators announced settlement of the strike at the Piper Aircraft corporation which began June 16 and affected 1,300 workers engaged in making small planes used in the government's civilian pilot training program.

In Port Huron, Mich., CIO unionists walked out at the Marysville parts plant of Chrysler corporation, which is filling orders for army truck parts, after four girl employés were disciplined. The company said they were "sent home" for "refusing to work." The plant employs 2,100 workers.

Potash Plant to Reopen.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27—[Special].—The American Potash and Chemical corporation plant at Trona, strike-bound since March 14, will open its gates Wednesday and offer reëmployment to 1,250 employés, the company announced today. The factory is said to be one of two in the nation producing borax, used in manufacturing glass for some armament projects. CIO unionists called the strike over wage demands.

BILL EXTENDING LIFE OF FHA TWO YEARS GOES TO ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—The senate completed congressional action today on legislation extending the life of the Federal Housing administration and increasing its limit on mortgage insurance from 4 billion to 5 billion dollars.

The measure, which now goes to President Roosevelt for his approval, would extend for two years numerous FHA activities that were scheduled to expire July 1.

In accepting a compromise on the measure, the senate agreed to drop a proposal for government insurance of 350 million dollars of farm purchase mortgages.

MORE OPPOSITION TO ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY VOICED

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Opposition to the St. Lawrence seaway was voiced before the house rivers and harbors committee today by representatives of two widely separated sections of the country—New England and Louisiana.

Gov. Sam H. Jones of Louisiana declared in a statement read by another Louisiana official that the seaway would strike a blow at the American merchant marine by putting foreign tramp steamers into competition with American vessels.

Frank S. Davis, an official of the Boston chamber of commerce, told the committee the seaway would be the "ruination" of the port of Boston and declared that sentiment in New England was "unanimously opposed to this project."

Thomas R. Saunders of Kenmore, N. Y., a Great Lakes ore boat skipper, told the committee that the International Shipmasters Association of the Great Lakes was "absolutely opposed" to the seaway.

BUILDING OF 8 BIG ALUMINUM PLANTS IS ASKED

Capacity Set at 600 Million Pounds.

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Armament officials recommended today the construction of eight new aluminum plants to produce an additional 600,000,000 pounds a year, raising the national capacity to 1,400,000,000 pounds.

William S. Knudsen, OPM director, and Sidney Hillman, associate director, sent the recommendation to Secretary of War Henry Stimson for approval, after which it will be sent to Defense Plant corporation, which would be asked to finance the new plants.

Areas Are Selected.

The areas selected and the proposed annual aluminum capacity include: Arkansas, 100,000,000 pounds; Bonneville-Grande Coulee area, two plants, one of 85,000,000 pounds capacity and the other of 55,000,000 pounds; upper New York state, two plants, one of 100,000,000 pounds capacity and the other of 50,000,000 pounds; Alabama, 100,000,000 pounds; California, 70,000,000 pounds, and North Carolina, 40,000,000 pounds.

OPM said the problem of power had been solved and that construction of all eight plants could be started immediately. The plants are to be built and owned by the government, but will be operated by private companies under lease. The companies were not named.

Result of Power Survey.

The location and size of the plants, the defense agency said, were based on a joint report by the Federal Power commission and the OPM power section, which followed a nation-wide survey of power supplies for aluminum and consultations with the interior department, the Tennessee Valley authority, and public and private power agencies.

OPM reported that it was formulating, in coöperation with the power commission, the war department, and other agencies, a specific program for permanent removal of power deficiencies which meanwhile were being met by emergency measures.

Considerations in Selections.

The considerations in connection with the recommendations for the new plants listed by OPM were these:

1. New plants should be situated where they would be economically sound after the present armament emergency.

2. A power supply should be available as rapidly as the plants can be constructed.

3. Temporary measures to assure necessary power could be taken by improving transmission interconnections, pooling power reserves, etc.

STOCKS WEAKEN AS STAPLES GET TRADE SPOTLIGHT

Some Specialties Make Modest Gains.

New York, June 27 (AP).—Speculative forces centered their attention mainly on bounding commodity markets today and stocks were quiet at moderately lower levels.

The performance of the share list was indifferent from the start and a downward drift for most leaders continued to the close. A few oils, aviations, and specialties managed to register modest advances but declines of fractions to a point or so were widespread.

News of Russian reverses—Moscow admitted withdrawals to new positions on the western front in the face of the Nazi push—was blamed by brokers principally for the setback in securities. Generally good business reports apparently aided individual stocks, but failed to stimulate the market as a whole.

Restraints on Trade.

Restraints on trading were seen in the growing government price-fixing campaign and the lack of definite information regarding the huge tax bill that will confront the nation next year. Considered by market analysts was a seasonal drop in this week's automotive production and an upturn in the country's retail spending to a peak for the year to date.

Prominent retreating shares were United States Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Santa Fe, American Smelting, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Glenn Martin, American Can, Westinghouse, United States Gypsum, United States Rubber, and International Harvester.

Loft and American Cable edged into new high ground for 1941.

CHICAGO LIST QUIET.

Transfers on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday between 2 and 2:30 o'clock dropped to 350 shares, the lowest level in the "extra" period for a full trading day since the system was started Sept. 30, 1940.

Prices in general slipped into their familiar uneven course yesterday, with declines holding a slight edge.

FILM COMPANY VOTES DIVIDEND; FIRST SINCE 1932

Universal Pictures company yesterday declared the first dividend on its 8 per cent first preferred stock since October, 1932. The payment to apply on arrears amounted to $2, the quarterly rate.

Allen B. Wrisley company, Chicago soap and toilet goods manufacturer, voted 20 cents on the common stock, the first distribution since last December. It also declared the usual quarterly dividends on the 7 and 6 per cent preferred shares.

The General Cable corporation declared an arrears payment of $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

NEW COUNT PUTS SPRING PIG CROP ABOVE YEAR AGO

Government Predicts Fall Total Will Be Record.

The department of agriculture yesterday estimated that the 1941 spring pig crop for the United States was slightly larger than the 1940 crop. It also predicted that the fall crop may break all records for a fall season.

The predictions were in marked contrast to preliminary comments last fall on the prospects for 1941. At that time the government reported that farmers were planning to reduce by about 14 per cent the number of sows to raise 1941 spring pigs. Rising prices since then have changed farmers' plans.

Crop Set at 50,083,000.

Yesterday's report indicated a spring crop of 50,083,000 pigs, compared with 50,066,000 in 1940. The crop was below the 53,207,000 head raised in the spring season of 1939, but it was larger than any other year since 1932. The spring pig crop reached a low of 32,438,000 in 1935 as a result of the pig killing program of 1933 and the severe drouth of 1934.

In the new estimates, corn belt states showed an increase, whereas other parts of the country showed small declines.

More Sows to Farrow.

The number of sows to farrow in the fall season, June 1 to Dec. 1, is indicated as 5,223,000, an increase of 596,000 head, or 13 per cent over the revised estimate for the fall season of 1940. If the number of sows that farrow in the fall season of 1941 is about as now indicated and litters should average about the same as last fall, the fall pig crop will be about 33,000,000 head, a record for a fall season.

The combined spring and fall crops would be about 83,000,000 head, which would be about 5 per cent larger than the combined crop of 1940.

The following table shows the number of pigs reported saved by farmers [figures in thousands of head, last three ciphers omitted]:

	Spring.	Fall.	Total.
1941	50,083	*33,000	*83,083

Bill to Permit Longer Trucks on Roads Dies on House Table

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—The bill permitting longer trucks on the highways, passed by the senate in a peculiar "mistake", was killed in the house of representatives today by an unopposed motion to table all bills still on first reading. Gov. Dwight Green was said to have directed the execution, altho he declined to comment because it involved a difference in his official family.

Green thus reversed an unexpected stand taken by Director of Public Works Walter A. Rosenfield in favor of an increase in the maximum legal length of trucks and buses from 35 to 40 feet and an increase in the maximum legal axle load from 16,000 to 18,000 pounds. In this, the director reversed opinion prosecuted by his highway department engineers for 10 years that an elongation would increase accidents and added burden on the pavements would expedite their wear and tear.

Lobby for Bill Strong.

A strong lobby followed the legislation thru both houses and was still trying to reach Gov. Green a few hours before the lethal house action. The governor was not influenced.

The bill was introduced in the upper chamber on May 13 by Senator Frank Ryan [D., Chicago]. It provided for new 40 foot and 18,000 pound maximums to apply to buses only. He said the larger dimensions were needed for the new air conditioned units.

On June 20 the bill returned to the senate floor from committee with amendments drafted by the state highway department which is under Director Rosenfield. Ryan, in asking for a roll call, explained to his colleagues that the bill applied to buses only and that truck limits remained the same. He got a majority of the votes.

Explanation by Ryan.

After passage this correspondent checked the amendments against the original bill from records in the senate clerk's office. In an interview Ryan said he hadn't known heretofore that the amendments also gave the added length and axle weight to trucks as well as buses.

He said he thought the amendments merely required balloon tire equipment for axles with extra weight. Ryan has been a member of the legislature for 27 years.

DAIRY PURCHASES FOR BRITAIN 15 TO 20 MILLIONS

Evaporated Milk Heads List of Products.

Dairy leaders estimated yesterday that dairy products valued at between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 have been purchased for Great Britain with lease-lend appropriations. Altogether federal agencies are estimated to have purchased between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 worth of food supplies for England and her allies.

Topping the list of dairy products in value is the purchase of 2,642,000 cases of evaporated milk. Based on current wholesale market prices of slightly more than $3 a case, the milk is estimated to have cost the United States close to $8,000,000. Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard announced recently that evaporated milk purchased on June 11 cost the government $3.15 a case at the manufacturing plants.

Doesn't Include Freight.

This price does not include the freight cost to the eastern ports. Leaders in the evaporated milk industry report that more than half of the total purchases have been delivered to the government for shipment abroad.

Cheese costing approximately $7,500,000 has been moving steadily from Wisconsin factories to eastern ports for shipment to England. Department of agriculture market reporters have estimated cheese purchases up to this week at 37,703,774 pounds.

Dried skim milk purchases total approximately 12,265,000 pounds. The milk is believed to have cost between 7 and 8 cents a pound or more. Trade estimates place dried whole milk purchases at 60,000 pounds with the May 1 price approximately 17.15 cents a pound for dried milk in the bulk, and 35.91 cents in one pound cans.

Buy Chicago Lard, Pork.

Between eight and ten cars of pork and lard a day have been rolling out of Chicago packing plants since early May to points on the eastern seaboard, meat packers report. The government agencies have purchased 88,758,500 pounds of cured and frozen pork; 45,706,118 pounds of canned pork, and 153,019,615 pounds of lard, according to meat company spokesmen.

While no precise figure on the cost of the meat products is available, current market prices for fresh pork would indicate that the cured and frozen pork cost between $17,000,000 and $20,000,000. The canned meats are believed to have cost around $12,000,000 to $13,000,000. Brokers said the department of agriculture has been paying 10 cents a pound or more for the lard, so that purchases to date would aggregate well over $15,000,000.

Eggs bought from midwestern farmers are believed by dealers to have cost $7,500,000 or more.

Purchases of frozen eggs total more than $4,000,000, egg breaking companies report. Dried egg purchases may reach 2 million pounds. Market prices of these range from 85 cents to $1.25 a pound.

In addition to these products the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, the government purchasing agency, has taken title to vast quantities of dried beans, canned tomatoes, oranges, and other foodstuffs estimated to have cost several millions of dollars.

HIGHEST GRADE.

What rating would you ascribe to the 2¾s of 1976 of Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore? —J. B.

Answer: The series Q 2¾ per cent bonds of the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore, maturing January 1, 1976, are regarded as of highest investment grade because of the company's consistent ability to earn its fixed charges and because of its strong financial condition.

In the last 10 years, the utility has earned its fixed charges an average of 3.28 times. Even during the depression years the coverage did not fall below 2.94 times, which is considered ample.

At the end of 1940, the company's total funded debt represented 45.8 per cent of the entire invested capital, the lowest debt ratio since 1931. Current assets at the end of 1940 were $17,674,318 against current liabilities of $5,660,936. Of current total funded debt of $75,702,500, the 2¾s accounted for $12,000,000.

The 2¾s were issued this year to retire almost six million dollars of 3½ per cent bonds and to pay for capital improvements. The new issue is secured equally with $57,585,000 of other company bonds by a first mortgage on the company's property, except for property of the former Consolidated Gas company of Baltimore City which is subject to a $6,100,000 prior lien.

The utility company furnishes electricity and gas in the industrial Baltimore, Md., area and supplies steam in the city's central business district.

DIAMOND SHOE.

In what way is A. S. Beck connected with Diamond Shoe? I would like a report on the latter. O. R.

Answer: A. S. Beck Shoe corporation is the retail outlet subsidiary of the Diamond Shoe corporation, New York, which manufactures men's and women's shoes. Capitalization of the parent consists of 11,000 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, 418,970 shares of no par common stock, and funded debt of $1,160,750.

Earnings results in the last five years follow:

	Net income.	*Earned per com.	Dividends per com.
1936	$807,715	$3.04	$2.25
1937	695,351	2.54	2.00

1940	813,739	†1.66	‡1.80

*After preferred dividends. †After 2 for 1 split. ‡Paid $1.50 before and 30 cents after 2 for 1 split.

The company has paid dividends on the common stock without interruption since 1929. Quarterly dividends of 30 cents each were disbursed February and May 1 and regular dividends are being paid on the preferred stock.

SOARING PRICES SET NEW HIGHS IN MOST GRAINS

Soy Beans Up 6⅝ Cents; Wheat, Oats Climb.

Prices soared yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade, with soy beans in the lead. All deliveries of the beans as well as lard, wheat, and oats sold at new high prices for the season. July beans advanced 6⅝ cents and sold at $1.56½, a price that has not been equaled since June, 1937.

There was a broad trade most of the day, and while profit taking caused numerous reactions, the finish was at the top. Soy beans closed 5½ to 6⅝ cents higher and lard was up 10 to 20 cents. Wheat finished 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents higher, and oats advanced 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents. Corn was inclined to lag, but gained ⅛ to ⅜ cent, and rye was ⅞ to 1¼ cent higher.

Trend Surprises Trade.

Action of the soy bean market recently is said to have surprised the trade. The July future has advanced 16⅛ cents from the low point of last week, and at the close yesterday showed an advance of 100 per cent as compared with a year ago.

The possibility of a scarcity of domestic vegetable oils is said to be back of the continued upturn in the market. Bean oil, however, is reported to be selling at a discount relative to other competitive oils. Flaxseed for September delivery sold at $2 a bushel on the Minneapolis exchange, the highest price quoted in many months.

Oats Most Active in Weeks.

The oats market got out of the rut yesterday for the first time in a number of weeks, as the result of buying induced by prospects that a government loan of 85 per cent of parity price might be made on this grain. Oats is the only grain not being currently supported by a government loan. There was some buying of rye on the belief that it is selling at too low a price relative to wheat and corn.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Sweet Corn Strategy.

June 27, 1941.

IF the weather isn't too hot and dry during the next few months the residents of the Wheaton farm will have delicious corn on the cob on their tables until late summer this year. The gardener has followed a system of sweet corn planting which will make this possible.

Instead of planting his whole crop of sweet corn at the same time he has followed a practice of planting a portion of a row each week since early spring. He planted some sweet corn two days ago and will plant another row next week.

Naturally there aren't many prospects that the corn planted so late in the season will be as tender as that planted in early spring because of warmer, drier weather expected at this time of the year.

But most of the farm residents are so fond of corn on the cob that they won't quibble about degrees of tenderness if they can have it on their tables for a longer period of time.

The Sprayer in Action.

Aside from planting corn this week the gardener spent a considerable amount of time campaigning against weeds and insects. Every row of the garden was carefully hoed and the sprayer was put into use on the potato, squash, and gourd plants. The gardener showed us where insect pests were riddling the leaves of these three plants. An arsenate of lead spray put an end to their damage.

The gardener used one tablespoonful of arsenate of lead to a gallon of water in spraying the plants this week. He prefers the liquid spray to sprinkling the dry arsenate on the plants because he believes it covers the plants more thoroly. Some gardeners, however, get results in their insect killing campaigns by dusting the powder over the plants in the morning when there still is dew on the vegetation.

Birds Join Campaign.

The gardener is getting some excellent help from birds in his campaign against insects. This week the most active birds around the garden were kingbirds. We saw three kind birds using a high fence across the road from the vegetable garden for their base of attack.

Each time they saw an insect one of the birds would take off, fly over the garden, and return to the fence to consume its prey. Kingbirds aren't especially afraid of people, so we stood fairly close to one of the birds while it juggled and devoured a large winged insect.

Altho all the vegetables are shooting up in a rush as a result of the warm weather, the beets seem to have made the most decided gain during the last week. The gardener said this week that the beets soon will be on the "ready to eat" list of vegetables, which now includes lettuce, green onions, and others.

HILLSBORO AREA FARMERS UNITE TO FIGHT QUOTA

Hillsboro, Ill., June 27 [Special].—All downstate farmers dissatisfied with wheat quotas were being urged today to enlist in a movement started here when growers of this community met in the courthouse and protested the new regulations.

They organized the Independent Grain Growers Association of Montgomery County for the purpose of taking legal action against the wheat quotas. The principal objection raised was against the government's action in fixing the quotas after this year's crops were already in.

Today officials of the new organization said 1,000 farmers had joined it and that several hundred dollars had been raised to finance a legal move for an injunction against the penalties.

NONFARM JOBS TOP 1929 RECORD; REACH 38,278,000

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins reported today that total nonagricultural employment in May reached a new all-time peak of 38,278,000. This, she said, was 800,000 higher than any employment peak reached in 1929.

The secretary reported that all major classes of employment showed substantial gains last month over May, 1940.

Manufacturing employment increased by 1,756,000 wage earners. Construction employment was up 499,000. The May employment index for all industries was 124.7 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, as compared with 102.5 in May, 1940.

The May 1941 pay roll index was 141.9 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, as compared with 97.8 in May, 1940.
